Religious War?
Coolidge and Wheat.
Both Going Up.
Will Workmen Pay?

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

THE FIRST sign of religious war in the next election comes in Louis Seibold's statement that Tammany Hall, the big power in New York, believes that prejudice against Governor Bryan will injure John W. Davis.

According to Seibold, Governor Bryan is accused of a leaning toward the Klan. This means that he will be unwelcome to Jewish and Catholic voters.

IF THE RELIGIOUS fight is to be carried from the convention into the election, the Democratic prospects will be slim.

APART FROM that, our watchful friend, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, announces that the rising price of wheat is cutting deeply into La Follette's vote, bringing the farmers back to Coolidge.

DECEMBER WHEAT closed at $1.29 last night, September made a new "high," and probably all grains are going higher, as you were told here some time ago when they were much cheaper.

A religious fight inside the Democratic party and high prices for grain will enable President Coolidge and his managers to sleep sweetly.

LA FOLLETTE won't be bothered with any official notification. He knows he is nominated and is at work. His friends call upon workmen's unions to supply money for the campaign.

Will they do it? The answer is DOUBTFUL.

WORKMEN KNOW that La Follette cannot be elected. That is out of the question. If they choose to give him a big vote it may throw the election into the House and perhaps thence into the Senate.

La Follette could not be elected in any case. How much money will the unions vote for the sake of a "fine gesture," knowing that they can't win?

BATTLES AHEAD for the Ku Klux Klan. Mayor Schwab, of Buffalo, N. Y., supreme general of the Catholic Order of the Knights of St. John, urges the Knights to "strengthen their military organization for their fight against the Klan."

IT OUGHT to be possible to rely only on the military organizations of the United States and on the police. But, asks Mayor Schwab, "What can you do if you are attacked?"

The Mayor lists our six national greatest evils as follows:

Divorce, race suicide, public dance halls, the drug habit, the hip pocket whiskey flask and immorality made easy by the automobile.

For the Ku Klux he has a department all to itself.

FOUR MEN were put to death by electricity within forty minutes in the State prison of Trenton, N. J.

One of the four to be killed said:

"I wouldn't be here if I hadn't spent ten of my twenty-three years of life in public institutions." He probably told the truth.

THE JEWISH system that sends children to be brought up in individual homes, or that, better still, supplies money for them to be kept with their own mothers whenever that is possible instead of herding them in institutions, has shown our "civilization" what it ought to do.

"COURAGE" has a thousand definitions. The French say it is possessed by Miss Uminiskia. She was in love with Zysmonski, Polish writer, in a Paris hospital. When he suffered intense pain, she gave her blood to be transferred to his body. That was brave. But as he continued in agony and the doctors said his case was hopeless, the young woman got a revolver, and, when he was not looking, shot and killed her lover.

French enthusiasts say that is the height of courage.

AS THE BIG Majestic was ploughing her way to New York, four great propellers push-

U. S. FLIERS HOP OVER ENGLAND

Reach Brough to Await Repairs to Planes Before the Final Dash Across Atlantic

Brough, England, July 17.—The American-round-the-world fliers reached here from Croydon today after a flight of an hour and forty-three minutes.

While hundreds gathered on the field of the Croydon airdrome and cheered, the three U. S. planes made perfect ascents, circled the field several times at low altitudes and then headed towards Brough in perfect formation, with Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the flight commander, showing the way.

A stop of eight or ten days will be made at Brough. The planes are to be fitted with pontoons for ocean work, and the engines thoroughly overhauled.

With 18,000 miles behind them and less than 8,000 ahead, the fliers were in a cheerful mood, particularly at the prospect of getting some rest at Brough while the planes are being worked over.

COUPLE OUTWIT POLICE AND WED

Fitchburg, July 17.—Hugo L. Hedboom, twenty-two years old, and Miss Mary C. Salmon, eighteen years old, of No. 389 Main street, now husband and wife, created some excitement in their home town Tuesday evening all because they wanted to wed and Mary's people did not want them to.

They finally outwitted the police of Fitchburg, Clinton and Worcester, who were called into the case by the irate parents and a sister, and were married late that night in Sterling by Town Clerk Langley.

BIT OF CLOTH LEADS TO SUSPECT'S ARREST

Pedestrians saw Special Officers Sullivan and Mullen of the La Grange street station back a man against a building on Summer street, compare a sample of cloth with his suit, and then march off with him. He was George White, twenty-two, of Bowdoin street, West End.

A tiny square of gray cloth, striped with blue, was White's undoing. Police charge it was a sample of material from which twenty-five suits stolen from Laserson & Myers Co., clothiers at No. 111 Summer street, were made.

Millionaire's Bride to Cook and Wash

MISS MADELINE GILLIES

"Money Can't Change Me," Says Girl Who Is Going to Be Wealthy and Have Maids and Butlers

Even if she is marrying a millionaire, Madeline Chapelle Gillies has no use for frills.

As a stenographer, simplicity was her motto; as the bride of J. A. B. Shaw, millionaire real estate man of Boston and Somerville, it will be the same.

"Money can't change me," the bride-to-be told a Boston American reporter, in the course of a conversation concerning her romance.

"I shall always be devoted to the friends of my early years. I don't believe in houses full of servants, and when my husband and I return from our honeymoon I plan to keep as well as direct our home.

"I mean to cook and wash and make the beds myself. I can drive an automobile and I mean to do that myself. We will have no chauffeurs, no maids, no cooks, no valets, to annoy me and snub my friends. Love, not cupidity, is the basis of my romance. I am the same girl I was when I went to school in Bath, Me. I am marrying a wonderful man. I intend to be a good wife to him."

Mrs. Gillies is twenty-eight years old and lives at No. 39 Elm road, Newton, with her sister, Mrs. George A. McKenzie.

When she returns from her honeymoon, which will be spent motoring in the West, she will take her place as mistress of a beautiful home at No. 507 Lowell avenue in Newtonville.

The house was built by Mr. Shaw for his bride at a cost of $25,000. It has eight rooms. There is a garage in the rear. It will be presented to her as a wedding gift.

Mrs. Gillies met Mr. Shaw at a service in Tremont Temple just a year ago. It was all over with the first meeting, so far as the millionaire was concerned. His courtship was marked more by the ardor of twenty than fifty-four. There is a story that shortly after they met Mrs. Gillies was sent out by her employer to try to sell Shaw a piece of real estate.

He bought it, so the story runs, and made a profit of $1,000 on it. As he had purchased it on her suggestion he naturally felt grateful. Neither the prospective bride or groom denies the story. They are to be married next week, either Tuesday or Wednesday.

2 BANDITS PUT VICTIM IN BROOK

Truck Driver Is Robbed by Men He Gave Lift in Arlington

The milk of human kindness is curdled in the breast of Edward V. Collins, fruit and vegetable dealer of No. 173 Massachusetts avenue, East Lexington.

When Collins gave two strangers a lift in his truck, in Cambridge, early today, the men held him up at gunpoint and robbed him of $107, forced him to jump into Alewife Creek when he couldn't swim a stroke and drove off in his truck.

Collins and a friend, John P. Canessa of No. 200 Massachusetts avenue, East Lexington, were passing through Cambridge toward their homes when the two strangers accosted them. They asked for a ride and Collins told them to jump in.

Collins drove with the strangers from North Cambridge carhouse to Alewife Brook Parkway, when the men suddenly drew guns, levelled them at Collins and his companion, and ordered Collins to turn into the Parkway.

At the next bridge across the brook, the gunmen told Collins to turn onto the bridge and then forced him to stop and put up his hands. Canessa meanwhile was holding his hands high in the air.

FRIEND SAVES $27.

The men went through Collins' pockets and removed his money, $107. Canessa saved $27 he had in his pockets by telling the bandits he was "broke" and there was no use to search him.

The truck was pulled up on the bank of the creek.

"Jump out," one of the bandits ordered Collins.

To jump meant that Collins would go into the creek, but the menace of the revolvers appeared greater than the meance of the water and he jumped.

"He can't swim a stroke" screamed Canessa, fearing for his friend's life.

"Well, you jump in after him and save him," ordered one of the bandits, waving his revolver in a business-like manner. Canessa also jumped.

TRUCK IS FOUND.

The men then drove away in the truck. Collins and Canessa managed to make their way to the bank of the brook and notified the Cambridge police.

A general alarm was sent out and later the truck was found, abandoned in the Mystic Valley Parkway.

One of the bandits is described as 32 years of age and about 5 feet 8 inches tall. He wore a gaberdine coat and a horse-shoe pin in his necktie was particularly noticeable.

The other was described as 28 years old, five feet three inches tall and wearing dark clothes and a cap.

MRS. GARDNER LOW, BUT HOLDING OWN

Mrs. Jack Gardner's condition remains critical. While not unconscious, she is very low. Her physicians can note no improvement in her condition, but say she is holding her own.

HERO LEFT LEGACY OF $100,000

Dorchester Man Remembered in Will of Woman Whose Life He Saved

Louis Wingersky, thirty-one years old, of No. 31 Hancock street, Dorchester, a Union News agent, is suddenly a wealthy man because years ago he saved the life of an unidentified woman whose foot had become wedged in a switch on the New Haven road.

Over the long-distance telephone Wingersky was informed that the woman, whose identity is still unknown to him, has died and left him $100,000 in cash and real estate.

While employed by the New Haven railroad Wingersky was firing a light engine from Putnam, Ct., to Willimantic.

UNLOCKED SWITCH.

During the trip the engine was sidetracked to permit an express train to pass. The headlight showed the outlines of a form far down the track. Wingersky jumped from his engine and found a woman with her foot tightly wedged in a switch on the track along which the express train was already due.

Wingersky unlocked the switch, pulled the womans' foot free and restored the switch to its original position an instant before the express thundered by.

The woman asked Wingersky to write his name and address.

"Young man, I'll not forget you," the woman remarked as Wingersky turned back toward his engine.

NOTIFIED OF FORTUNE.

Today, the administrator of the woman's estate, one John Connelly, called the Wingersky home on the telephone.

Wingersky understands that he must marry before the fortune is turned over to him. "I don't even have a sweetheart," he declared in discussing this phase of the bequest, "but I guess with $100,000 it won't be hard to get a wife."

Wingersky has declared his intention of remaining on the job as news agent, even after the money is turned over to him.

MYSTERY BLAST FIRES NORMAL SCHOOL

Fire, following the mysterious explosion of chemicals in the laboratory of the Boston Normal School, Huntington and Longwood avenues, threatened to destroy the magnificent building today.

The janitor, at work in another section of the building, heard the roar of the exploding chemicals. He sounded an alarm and when fire apparatus arrived they found the laboratory a mass of flames. The blaze was confined to the chemical department. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

Early arrivals among Summer students gathered in groups to witness the firemen at work. Had the explosion occurred an hour later, police believe that ther might have been loss of life or serious injuries to pupils.

U. S. Teeth Contain More Gold Than Europe's Banks

Washington, July 17.—Since it has become unfashionable for workmen to carry full dinner pails, the gold tooth that signifies prosperity to Secretary of Labor Davis.

"American workers have more gold in their teeth than laborers in most European countries have in the bank."

Secretary Davis said this to friends here in commenting on what he thought were baseless complaints that the loss of European markets was hurting American labor.

RUM-RUNNER IS CAPTURED IN HARBOR

Crossing a shaft of moonlight off Thompson's Island, a rum-running motorboat was sighted today by the officers and crew of the police boat Edwin U. Curtis.

When the "halt" signal was given the rum runner put on speed and made for the lower harbor.

Among the islands there she was run aground and captured. She proved to be the boat 913-C.

In the narrow, shallow hold, Captain Ross A. Perry and Sergeant Tilland found 1500 gallons of alcohol.

Mike Selfano of North street, who seemed to be the skipper of the rum smuggler, told the police he got the stuff from a ship off Gloucester. He and the two others on the motorboat were arrested. They said they were Costas Selfano of No. 12 Moon street, and Marco Palano, of Lewis street, in the North End.

For fifteen minutes Perry and Tilland had heard the purring of the motor, but had been unable to locate the boat until she came out of the darkness into the moonlit lane.

PRISONER IN DEATH HOUSE

Condemned Lawrence Man Insists He Is Innocent; Appeals for New Trial

Lawrence, July 17. In the shadow of the electric chair and on his way to Murderers' Row, Cyrille J. Vanderhecke continued to assert his innocence today.

A fight to save his life has been started by 3,000 residents of this city.

He is under sentence to die on the morning of July 27 for the murder of John Schureman, a neighbor.

Lawless love figures in the story of the crime as it is told by the prosecution.

Vanderhecke and Mrs. Schureman lived together in Philadelphia, or so it is alleged. Schureman went to the Quaker City and brought her back. Not long afterward he was shot dead at his home on Water street.

For a long time, nearly five years, Vanderhecke evaded arrest by traveling. He was arrested at Renfrew in Ontario on February 23, 1923, and brought to Lawrence for trial.

Today the doomed man is locked up in a death cell in Murderers' Row in Charlestown State Prison.

WANTS A NEW TRIAL.

Despite his statement that he does not want a reprieve, but a new trial, friends will appeal to Governor Cox to save him. Three thousand Belgians and French of this city will take the lead.

The condemned man is confident he never will go to the chair. He declares his innocence and professes to believe that he will be cleared if he gets another trial. He considers himself as sacrificed to the desire of the people of Lawrence for a victim.

"If I cannot get a new trial and if they actually think I am guilty of this crime, the electric chair is none too good for me," he said just before they took him away to Charlestown.

"I would rather die at once than endure the long agony of life imprisonment. I have been in jail long enough. If I cannot become a free man I prefer to die.

"Some days, perhaps, long after I am dead, they will find that I was

Kansas City, July 17.—Two firemen and five negroes were killed today in an explosion and fire that wrecked a store and tenement building. Six other firemen were injured. Nine negroes are missing.

ELECTRIC STORM HITS ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., July 17.—A severe electric storm, followed by heavy rains and a high wind struck St. Louis early today, tearing down telephone and electric wires, throwing parts of the city in darkness and breaking windows in homes and office buildings.

Several persons were reported slightly injured by flying debris.

PLAN NIGHT AIR MAIL FOR OTHER CITIES

Chicago, July 17 (Universal).—Night flying of the United States Air Mail is so efficient that its extension to other cities outside the coast to coast lanes is being contemplated.

This was revealed by Assistant Postmaster-General Paul Henderson, in charge of the night air mail service.

3,000 FIGHT TO SAVE LAWRENCE SLAYER FROM DEATH CHAIR

APPEAL WILL BE MADE TO COX FOR CLEMENCY

Innocent. Yet I do not wish to have the name of Massachusetts [illegible] by the reproach of the execution of an innocent man.

"After I am dead [illegible] I would die now. I would [illegible] my [illegible] to an [illegible] scientists, to do with as they will. I would like to be remembered as the Vanderhecke who gave his life to science, not as the Vanderhecke who was electrocuted for murder."

Vanderhecke was placed in cell No. 2 at Charlestown not more than twelve steps from the electric chair.

He was calm.

When the shackles which had burdened him on his way from Lawrence were removed, he said that he was hungry.

"It was quite some auto ride," he explained. When food was brought he ate with the appetite of a [illegible] free human. He was told that while in the death house he could have what he wished to eat or smoke.

PLACES PHOTOS IN CELL.

"Plain prison fare is good enough. I never was an epicure," he said. "And I don't smoke."

Prison clothes were given him. He donned the dark trousers and shirt which are the uniform of the condemned without a word. Once in his cell, he placed on the small table the photographs of relatives and friends and settled himself for his ten day stay.

Sheriff Arthur G. Wells, who superintended the transfer to Charlestown, said he never saw a calmer, braver, more confident prisoner.

There is no other occupant of the deathhouse at Charlestown. Unless reprieved, he will be the twenty-fifth prisoner to die in that gloomy old prison.

Day and night a guard will sit in front of the cell of the condemned man. Members of his family, his attorney and his spiritual advisor will be the only persons permitted to talk with him.

Most of his time he will spend alone. These last few days usually bring out the truth from prisoners awaiting the chair. At Charlestown the officials are waiting.

Vanderhecke was sentenced to death by Judge Quinn in Essex Superior Court in 1923. Schureman was killed in 1918.

DAUGHTER AIDS FIGHT.

When the case was on trial Vanderhecke testified that he went to the Schureman home to get some clothes and Schureman shot him in the leg. Then, he said, his mind became a blank. He regained it when he found himself aboard a ship bound for Belgium.

The condemned man's young and pretty daughter is taking the lead in the fight to save his life. It is probable she will ask for a private audience with the Governor and make a last desperate plea.

In this town they expect him to go to the chair. And they expect him to "die game."

"He's as brave as a ferret," says Keeper Bunting of the Lawrence House of Correction.

MONSOLILLI AGAIN UNDER ARREST

Doctor Convicted of Mailing Bomb Held for the Illegal Practice of Medicine

Dr. Monsolilli.

Louis A. Monsolilli of No. 31 Beacon street, recently convicted of sending a bomb through the mails, is in trouble again, this time charged with the illegal practice of medicine.

State officers investigating a 'Dr. A. Dupont,' who recently opened an office at No. 44 Bromfield st., discovered that the "doctor" was none other than Monsolilli, according to their report.

They arrested the doctor at the home of a woman in Lynn who was being treated by the "doctor," taking him when he called to visit his patient.

Monsolilli was recently convicted in Federal Court of having sent a bomb through the mails, but sentence has never been imposed, a number of exceptions having been filed to the verdict.

LOWELL BANK MAN'S THEFTS TOTAL $70,000

Lowell, July 17.—The amount that J. Harry Boardman, ousted cashier of the Old Lowell National Bank, is accused of stealing has been definitely fixed at $70,000.

Federal auditors have completed their second checking of the books and have rechecked on all the accounts alleged to have been forged by the cashier. These consisted entirely of a series of notes held as collateral by the bank.

A list of the "doubtful" notes was shown to Boardman, and he designated those that were genuine and those that were forgeries. According to the officials, he then pointed out in the bank's books the "check" items covering his alleged forgeries.

The Federal officers have in their possession a large quantity of correspondence that Boardman had with Bright, Sears & Co., the brokerage firm with which he transacted stock dealings for his bank and, it is alleged, for his own speculations.

The Federal officers said that even though the marginal account with the brokerage firm stood in the name of the bank, Boardman used it as his personal account.

SOLDIER'S WEIRD TALE UNDER PROBE

Cambridge police today are investigating the story of Roscoe J. Ferriell, a native of Texas, and a member of Co. K, 13th Infantry, regular army, now stationed at Camp Devens, who was taken to the Cambridge Hospital Tuesday suffering from an overdose of drugs.

Ferriell told the police he was in Concord last Monday night and had started back to Camp Devens when an automobilist offered him a ride to the camp. He accepted the ride, he said, and had only gone a short distance when he felt a sudden jab in his arm.

He said he wandered out to a road and hailed a milk wagon and was given a ride as far as Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Suddenly everything became blank, and the next thing he knew was that he was in the hospital.

LIGHTNING TIES UP TROLLEY SYSTEM

Albany, N. Y., July 17.—Trolley traffic in four cities and one village was paralyzed today in consequence of a heavy storm. Lightning struck the power house of the Adirondack Light and Power Company at Watervliet, burning out a transformer on the circuit that furnishes power for the traction company operating in Albany, Troy, Rensselaer, Watervliet and Green Island. Not a car moved for several hours.

FATHER DRIVES TO FIRE HIS SON SET

William Shanley, seven years old, started the fire in his house, No. 632 Main street, Malden, by playing with matches. The boy's grandfather, Thomas J. Shanaley, sent in the alarm, and the boy's father, William H. Shanley, driver for the Ashland street fire station, Malden, arrived on the scene in the fire apparatus and extinguished the flames. The damage was negligible.

Old 'Dry' Democrat Against Davis as Head of 'Bar'

Locust Valley, N. J., July 17.—John W. Davis told an audience about two letters he had received since his nomination. One was from a man in Delaware who told of an old cobbler, a lifelong Democrat who, since the convention, had announced that "he was a Methodist and a prohibitionist, and would never vote for any man who had been president of a bar association."

The other letter, from a man in Pennsylvania, assured Mr. Davis he was sorry to hear the nominee had been sued for breach of promise.

"He added he knew the lady," said Mr. Davis, "and could tell me something about her that could help me in my defense."

ZIONIST TREASURER GOING TO PALESTINE

Benjamin Rabalsky, prominent Boston attorney, treasurer of the New York Zionist Region and of the Associated Jewish Organizations of Massachusetts, together with his wife, Mrs. Rabalsky, are leaving for Palestine and will spend at least three months there. They will sail from New York on the Majestic next Saturday.

Elihu D. Stone, Assistant U. S. Attorney and chairman New England Zionist Region, together with a large delegation of prominent Boston Jews, will be at the pier as a farewell committee to express the appreciation of New England Zionists to Mr. Rabalsky for the services he has rendered the Zionist cause.

TRAPS ELOPING PAIR IN WEST ROXBURY

Mother of 4 Children Caught After Chase Through Seven States

Michael Fiaschetti, famous ex-sergeant of detectives of New York city, tracked Mrs. Amelio Agovino of New York across seven States and finally placed her under arrest in a West Roxbury rooming house.

The woman ran away from her home June 9 with a neighborhood shopkeeper, Salvator la Puma, and he, too, was arrested here. The woman's husband brought about the arrest of the couple and recovered his nine-year-old boy Gaetano, who had been taken by the couple when they fled.

Mrs. Agovino left three of her children at home when she fled with the grocer and her son through the States of the East, living for a time in Philadelphia, then Atlantic City and Trenton. The trail finally led to Hanover street, Boston, and thence to No. 18 Centre terrace, West Roxbury, where they were captured.

Agovino accompanied the detective when the arrests were made and took charge of his son, with whom he returned to New York.

FEUD OVER MIXED MARRIAGE FLARES UP ON GIRL'S DEATH

MOB STORMS HOUSE TO SEIZE HER BODY

By CORNNE RICH

New York, July 17 (Universal).—Before a certain house of death in a crowded tenement street on the Lower East Side, two patrolmen and a sergeant stand guard. It is a guard not of honor, but of protection.

On the narrow street below angry groups stand sullenly by, furtively watching the guard. They have come, these people, not to pay tribute to the dead, but to snatch the crape from the door if possible.

And poor little Rosa Scala lies in her white casket three flights up unable in death to stop the religious war her marriage precipitated three years ago.

SECOND FUNERAL SERVICE.

This morning the second funeral service for the girl will be held, the first having been performed without a corpse the day she married.

The whole East Side is stirred up, divided into two camps, Jews and Catholics. Rosa's story has to do with sentiment that brought her romance to tears and death.

When she was a little girl, Rosa Lefkowitz, daughter of Orthodox Judaism, went to public school. In the same block Dominic Scala, son of Italian Catholicism and pupil of a parochial school, carried her books home for her every day.

FIERY COURTSHIP.

That was more than fifteen years ago. For the last five of those years Dominic courted Rosa in the fiery fashion of his own land. They were desperately in love. The Montague-Capulet attitude of their families only added to the beauty of that passion.

Then in January, 1921, they took matters into their own hands and married. That day the Lefkowitz family declared that Rosa had died. Funeral candles were burned in the father's home and tears were shed.

Rosa's wedding day was not a happy one. Dominic did his best to make the succeeding years make up for the deficiency. But Rosa could not forget that to her father she was no longer living.

The girl's health failed. She fell a prey to the white plague. At a hospital she completed her isolation from the family roof by taking the vows of her husband's church. When the young husband informed the Lefkowitz parents of his wife's illness, only coldness was expressed.

Rosa died Monday night.

Dominic again sent word through his father to the Lefkowitz home. They had no such daughter, they said, and did not want the body of Scala's wife.

Dominic prepared to bury his sweetheart from the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows this morning. Then the storm broke. The Jewish parents with hundreds of cohorts demanded that they be allowed to give Rosa the benefit of Orthodox rites in a service after sundown.

MOB BOMBARDS HOUSE.

Dominic refused this time. And the mob, angry to the point of action, bombarded the drab little flat on the fourth floor. The husband summoned police help and two patrolmen, a Jew and a Catholic, were sent with an officer to relieve the situation.

They guarded the house all night for Rosa Scala, who was Rosa Lefkowitz, must sleep her last sleep in the tiny home in peace.

GERMAN DRIVE ON CHANCELLOR BEGUN

Berlin, July 17.—Simultaneously with the opening of the interallied conference in London, the German Nationalist newspapers started an open drive to oust Chancellor Marx. They demand that Marx give way to a National Chancellor who would keep Dr. Stresmann as foreign minister.

The drive is the result of the swing of National feeling in Germany against the Dawes plan in view of Premier Herriot's complete return to the Poincare policies and the growing differences in the standpoints of Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresemann themselves.

BELIEVE LOST WORLD FLIER SAFE ON ISLE

British Confident MacLaren Will "Come Through"; Warships Continue the Hunt

London, July 17 (I.N.S.).—No trace has been found of Stuart MacLaren, British 'round-the-world flier, or his two companions, who are missing somewhere along the dreary 400-mile stretch of the Pacific Ocean between Yetorofu Island and Paramashiru Island.

Failure of Japanese destroyers to find trace of the airman or their plane was reported today in dispatches from Tokio, which said the search was being continued.

British officials, however, do not believe the Royal Air Force expedition has met with disaster. Instead they believe MacLaren came down because of foggy weather, and expect to get news from him soon from Boughton Bay in Shimushiru Island, where an emergency supply base has been established for just such a misfortune as has apparently overtaken the British fliers.

One of the most optimistic and most interested of those awaiting word from the far-off Kuriles Islands is Mrs. Stuart MacLaren, wife of the British flight commander. She was one of the first to greet the American fliers on their arrival at Croydon yesterday and wish them luck.

Mrs. MacLaren said she had faith in MacLaren's ability to "come through."

British air officials believe Major A. Stuart MacLaren, missing round-world aviator, landed on one of these islands to await better weather conditions. No fear is felt for his safety, although Japanese warships are seeking to locate the airman and his comrades.

FEAR MOTHER OF FOUR WAS SLAIN

Lancaster, N. H., July 17.—County authorities are making an effort to find Mrs. Maude Woodward Drown, who left her temporary home in Riverton, about four miles from here, two weeks ago and has not been seen since.

Mrs. M. W. Drown

Mrs. Drown is the daughter of Dexter Woodward of Riverton and the wife of Harris Drown. She is the mother of three small children, the oldest of whom is four years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Drown formerly lived in North Lisbon. Early in June they agreed to separate and a separation agreement was drawn up by them and their home was given up on June 11.

The girl's father, Dexter Woodward, and her husband believe that she has met with foul play or has been murdered.

RADIO POLICE CARS GET HOLDUP MEN

Three gangs of holdup men have been caught redhanded by the radio equipped police automobiles of Detroit. These new cars, capable of a speed of eighty miles an hour, are in constant touch with the police broadcasting station KOP on a wave length of 286 meters.

In each case a telephone alarm to police headquarters was promptly broadcast by radio to the police cars

ELKS' SHIP USED IN BRITISH PLOT AGAINST U. S.

$110,000 Fine Stands for Attempt to Break Down Coastwise Law

Washington, July 17.—The "British and continental movement against flag discrimination," says a Shipping Board memorandum to Secretary Hoover, is being used as a cloak in a movement by "hostile foreign interests" designed "to attack and ultimately destroy the coastwise laws of the United States."

The memorandum, dealing with the recent landing of the Pennsylvania Elks at Boston by the Lamport & Holt steamer Voltaire, which resulted in the assessment of a $110,000 fine against the line by the customs authorities at the Massachusetts port, was written before the ship sailed from Philadelphia for Halifax, N. S., and St. John's, N. F., but has just been made public.

"The trip had been the subject of protests from American shipping companies because of the stop at Boston, where the Elks were holding their convention, and the memorandum asserts that, "of course, the subterfuge of touching at the British ports of Halifax and St. Johns makes this none the less a violation of the coastwise laws."

Unless the Lamport & Holt lines appeals from the customs authorities' decision, however, the Department of Commerce is understood to regard the case as closed.

The president of the Liverpool ship owners' association recently asserted at the annual meeting that the movement against flag discrimination included an effort to force abandonment of the coastwise policy of the United States.

The Voltaire, the memorandum adds, is owned by a member of the Liverpool organization.

Chicago, July 17.—One thousand picnics nation-wide today celebrate the thirty-third anniversary of the founding of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, according to Miss Mary L. Downes, high chief ranger of the order.

GUARDSMEN IN REVIEW FOR GOV. COX

Camp Devens, July 17.—Governor Channing Cox and Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Fuller and the governor's staff, accompanied by mayors and city and town officials, arrived at Camp Devens shortly before noon today to review the work of the 6500 National Guardsmen who have been at camp the past two weeks.

Long before the Governor and other dignitaries arrived great crowds of relatives and friends of the men in camp and visitors from all parts of the State had arrived at the camp.

The Governor and his party were met at the gate by Lieutenant-Colonel Thomas Murphy and a detail of cavalry from the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

From the camp gate the Governor's party were escorted to the 26th Division headquarters, where they met Major-General Edward L. Logan and his staff.

This afternoon the Governor and his party and about 25,000 visitors witnessed the review of the various units now in camp. The review will last about an hour and a half and more than 7,000 members of the National Guard will parade.

LACK OF LICENSE HALTS WEDDING

Peabody, July 17.—John Kosen, a restaurant waiter of Greek extraction, who won the hand of Florence Phelps, Yankee farmer's daughter of Russell, should have studied the marriage laws of the State while conducting his whirlwind campaign which won over the girl's father in favor of the match.

With the guests waiting at the Greek Orthodox Church for the ceremony, the couple arrived to find that the marriage license Kosen had procured was not sufficient.

TWO YOUTHS RESCUE BOY FROM DROWNING

Half an hour's hard work at resuscitation was necessary to bring Edward Nahabin, aged [illegible], of No. 29 Fulton street, Neponset, back to the land of the living after he was pulled from the Neponset creek, apparently dead.

Nahabin was rescued by James O'Brien, aged fifteen, of No. 28 Fulton street and John Howell aged seventeen, of No. 35 Fulton street.

'YEAST KING' TO WED BEAUTY AS NO. 3

Jay O'Brien, international polo-player, man-about-town and "lady-killer," who will wed Mrs. Dolly Fleischmann, divorced wife of Julius "Golden" Fleischmann, is not by any means to be the only winner in society's latest love-and-marriage handicap.

True, Julius Fleischmann has lost a wife—the second gone from him via the divorce route—and he loved her so and lavished money upon her—but he will not live for long a life of loneliness.

For reports have it that there is soon to be another Mrs. Fleischmann.

That she is a young and beautiful Washington girl, an all-round sportswoman and a favorite in the best circles of capital society and that she has long admired the "Yeast King."

But her identity has not been disclosed.

Soon after Fleischmann's return word was received from Paris that Dolly Fleischmann had obtained a divorce.

"She has her decree and there is no hard feeling between us," the "Yeast King" said when he arrived in New York from Paris. He went abroad to accept service.

Fleischmann spoke with feeling of his second wife.

"Mrs. Fleischmann has never lacked for anything and she never shall," said the "Yeast King" with reference to the report that he had given Mrs. Dolly Fleischmann $5,000,000.

Society is wondering if Cincinnati's former Mayor will duplicate his performance of a few years ago when he wed the second Mrs. Fleischmann, after generously endowing his first wife with $2,000,000 and the $2,000,000 Summer house of the couple at New London, Ct.

BOY SHOT DEAD ON HIS FIRST HOLDUP

Chicago, July 17.—Frank Zietz "fell down" on his first job.

The 17-year-old youth is dead in the morgue, and his new automatic revolver, with three empty shells, is in the drawer of the coroner's desk.

Zietz was shot dead when he attempted his first hold-up with his shiny new gun. He fell before a fusilade of bullets from the revolvers of police officers.

North Shore Society Out in Force Today for St. John's Annual Parish Fair

By BETTY ALDEN.

SMALL as it is, St. John's Church at Beverly Farms is one of the most fashionable and interesting houses of worship along the North Shore.

Year after year it has been the scene of some of the most brilliant weddings of the Summer and Fall seasons and on Sundays members of the various colonies all along the Shore come to the Farms for the services conducted there by the Rev Neilson Poe Carey.

Each year a fair is given on the Parish House grounds. All sorts of colorful flowers, tempting edibles and delicate fancy work may be purchased there, with the smartest matrons of the Farms colony acting as saleswomen.

Today this Summer's sale will be held from ten in the morning until six in the evening. Mrs. Charles C. Walker has charge of the cakes, Mrs. Henry L. Mason is looking after the candy, Mrs. Marshall Fabyan is directing the sale of rummage, while to Mrs. "Pete" Sortwell and to Mrs. Lloyd Nichols have been intrusted the ever-successful "grabs." Mrs. Rodman Paul Snelling will see to it that the tea will be as delightful a feature of the day as ever.

I NOTE that stately Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer has been made a member of the house committee of the Newport Country Club. T. Suffern Tailer is chairman, with Clarence W. Dolan the other member.

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer

For a number of years Mrs. Thayer has been a leader of the far-famed Boston Assemblies, and when the former Pauline Revere sojourns at her Summer estate in Newport she enjoys a similarly important position in the life of the Summer colony there.

APROPOS of Bostonians at the famous Rhode Island resort, Mrs. Charles L. Harding is one of the patronesses for the concert which will be given at the Newport Historical Society July 31. The artists for the occasion will be Greta Torpadie and Salvatore de Stafano.

Mrs. Charles L. Harding

Both the "Wildfire," owned by Mr. Harding, and the "Nahma," owned by young Charles Harding, Jr., have anchored in Newport waters. Both craft sailed on the cruise of the Eastern Yacht Club, the schooner "Wildfire" leading the fleet into port one day.

Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., is one of the prominent North Shore folk interested in the success of the horse show which will be held August 16 at the Burroughs estate in Hamilton for the benefit of the Welcome House. (Staff Photo.)

MRS. BAYARD TUCKERMAN, JR.

Society Notes

MR. RALPH BRADLEY of Bay State road is expected to return shortly from Europe. Mrs. Bradley and the children are spending the Summer as usual at Beverly Farms with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey L. Cabot.

Mrs. James F. Curtis recently closed her home on Marlboro street and is now at Pride's Crossing for the season.

Mrs. Roger F. Sturgis, who recently returned from abroad with her two daughters, the Misses Suzette and Anita Sturgis, are at Manchester for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wigglesworth will be at Eastern Point this Summer. They have leased their place at Manchester.

J. Torrey Morse has opened his Summer home at Pride's Crossing for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith McLeod have returned from abroad and are at their home in Wenham.

MILL ENGINEER ON HUNGER STRIKE

Albi, France, July 17.—M. Spinetta, former engineer at the glass works here, which is run by the workers themselves on co-operative lines, has gone on a hunger strike as a protest against the attitude toward him of a section of the workers. He has eaten nothing for eight days, to the despair of his family, but the workers do not seem unduly moved at the strike.

THEATRE MUSICIANS ASK PAY INCREASE

A tentative proposition for an increase in wages and changes in the existing working contract has been submitted to the Theatrical Managers Association by the wage conference board of Boston Musicians' Union. It applies to men playing in theatres and motion picture houses.

The contract under which the musicians are now working expires on Labor Day.

Is Your Skin Radiant, or Sallow?

Sallowness, freckles, blackheads—literally fade away after a few Mello-glo treatments. Mello-glo Skin Tone, a pink, creamy liquid, cleanses pores, then closes them. Rub it gently on your skin with your finger tips. Before it dries, wipe off with absorbent cotton. You'll notice a pink glow, a pink-and-white freshness, soft and sweet as a baby's. This stimulation does not wear off, but lasts throughout the day.

Its lasting effect is perfected by Mello-glo Beauty Cream, which should be applied immediately after Mello-glo Skin Tone. It bleaches and is absorbed into the skin, making a velvety, smooth powder base. Next put on Mello-glo Facial-Tone Powder—stays on until you take it off.

These three Beauty Treatments have the wild-rose tint, that fragile, appealing delicacy beloved of men—and women. $1.00 each, at high class toilet counters.

'BRAINS' OF U. S. FRAUD SOUGHT IN LONDON

$5,000,000 Mulcted From Oil Investors; American "Vigilante" on Trail

London, July 17.—Edward A. Schwab of the American National Vigilance Committee conferred with Chief Inspector Heldon of Scotland Yard concerning an organization which is alleged to have sold about $5,000,000 worth of bogus oil shares in Great Britain and the United States.

Schwab has a list of 3,000 persons here who, he claims, parted with nearly half a million pounds. The Daily Mail quotes him as saying that the master-brain of the organization is now in London and, with the help of the police, he expects speedily to lay hands on him.

Scotland Yard has suggested to Schwab that this fraud is not an extraditable offense. Schwab believes that the investigations of the police will convince them to the contrary.

WIDOW'S WISH IGNORED BY HUSBAND

New Yorker Bequeaths Home at Bar Harbor as Token of Affection

New York, July 17.—The will of Andrew Murray Young, who died in Paris on May 29, was filed for probate with the Surrogate's Court.

Mr. Young had a town house at No. 29 Park avenue and a country home known as "Tanglewood" at Bar Harbor, Me. The will was dated February 11, 1924, and disposes of a large estate, although there is no estimate of its value filed with the petition.

One of the provisions of the will is that as Mrs. Marie Hunt Young, wife of Mr. Young, is well supplied with "worldly goods" in her own right, she had requested him to devise and bequeath all his property to his relatives and friends. Notwithstanding this request, Mr. Young, as a token of affection, left his widow the Bar Harbor home, its furnishings and a cash legacy of $10,000.

HUNT FOR BODY OF SLAIN U. S. OFFICER

Posse Accompanied by Confessed Killer of Major McLeary in Search

Cheraw, S. C., July 17.—A posse of Federal and local police left today with Mortimer H. King, confessed slayer of Major Samuel H. McLeary of the Coast Artillery, for the scene of the crime, to recover the body.

King admitted shooting the army officer after he and a companion whose name was withheld pending search for him were given a ride in the officer's automobile and said the body was hidden in a swamp about 10 miles from here. Robbery was the motive. The shooting occurred July 24.

The finding of one of the major's shirts in King's home near Canton was described as bringing out the confession after he had convinced investigators previously that he had nothing to do with the crime.

THEATRE MAN FLEES DIVORCE ACTION

New York Producer Packs Grip in Paris When he Learns of Wife's Suit

New York, July 17.—Charles B. Dillingham, prominent theatrical producer, is back at his desk again, trying to forget the harrowing experience he had in Paris within the past fortnight.

Dillingham spent the Spring in his Paris home. His wife, who was reported to be contemplating a divorce, was also in the French capital. However, the theatrical man didn't put much stock in the divorce stories.

Imagine his surprise when he picked up the Paris edition of a New York paper, in a Paris railway station and saw in glaring headlines, the information that Mrs. Dillingham had instituted action against him and was seeking her freedom.

Charles B., who recognizes the theatric when he sees it on the stage, showed that he was a very prosaic sort of person in his domestic relations. He stuck the paper in his pocket, took a taxicab to his home and had his clothes packed.

Without discussing the affair with anyone, Dillingham, secured passage on the Majestic and sailed to New York within a few hours.

POLICEMEN DEMAND $60,000 OF DUNCANS

Chicago, Ill., July 17.—The four Cicero policemen who beat up Rosetta Duncan, 100-pound star of "Topsy and Eva," filed six suits, each for $10,000 against her and her brother, Harold Duncan. The suits, it was stated, will charge assault and slander, and support the officers' contention that they were in danger of grave bodily harm from the little actress when they broke her nose, fractured her rib and blackened her eyes.

BUTLER TELLS POLICE 'STORM' IS COMING

Philadelphia, July 17.—Calling the police inspectors and lieutenants before him, General Butler, Director of Public Safety, told them, in a fiery talk, that it was up to them to give no heed to political threats but to adhere to the law enforcement program he had mapped out, whether "I am fired or not."

"Mayor Kendrick promised the people he would clean up vice and crime in Philadelphia, and keep the police out of politics," he said.

"We must see that those pledges are kept. Go ahead and knock the stuffings out of any joint that pops up in your district. If you are afraid, you'll run, because a storm is coming.

"If you quake with fear when your political friends tell you that after I am gone you will be the victim of a dire revenge, then you are cowards at heart."

PLANS TO DRIVE OUT DRUG EVIL DRAFTED

Washington, July 17 (Universal).—Complete proposals for putting into operation the American plan for eradicating the habit-forming narcotic drug evil from the face of the earth have been drafted by the preparatory committee head by Representative Stephen G. Porter, of Pennsylvania.

Cong. S. G. Porter

Representative Porter's colleagues on the committee are: Mrs. Hamilton Wright, widow of the man who gave his life in the fight against the drug curse, and W. C. Neville, of the State Department.

They have submitted their recommendations to Secretary of State Hughes for approval before presentation to the International Narcotic Conference in Geneva the latter part of November.

4 DIE IN SHIP BLAST; DIVER-HERO IS HURT

Balboa Heights, Canal Zone, July 17 (I.N.S.).—Four laborers were dead today and several in a critical condition as the result of an explosion in the hold of the salvaged Pacific Mail liner Columbia, where the men were working, off Cano Island. Gas from decomposed coffee and hides in the hold was responsible for the explosion.

One of the seriously injured was Sheppard Shreves, diver-hero, who rescued the American sailors imprisoned in the submarine O-5 which sank off Cristobal last Fall.

Vocations After Vacations

Vacation time may well include a thought about the future vocation time. It is but a matter of a few weeks until schools open up again.

Which school? What is the boy or girl adapted for? How much can you afford to expend on his education?

SLEEPERS NOW ARE SAFE ON COMMON

Police Oust Many, However, Before Receiving Order Not to Molest Them

As the result of a delay between the park and the police departments in the matter of making effective Mayor Curley's order to suspend, during the hot weather, the rule which forbids persons to be on the grass on Boston Common, many heat-suffering citizens were ordered off the Common without authority.

Later the police department received the Mayor's order which was issued Tuesday to the park department, Mayor Curley personally instructing Park Commissioner Shea to inform the police of the change.

During the heat of the day, however, three patrolmen were making the rounds of the Common, waking many dozing persons and ordering them to "move along."

To a Boston American reporter, the officers declared they were acting on instructions and had received no orders to the contrary.

DE VALERA AND FAMILY ARE REUNITED

Former Irish Republic Head Announces Intention to Carry On

By DENIS O'CONNELL

Dublin, July 17 (Universal Cable).—After eleven months in prison Eamonn De Valera, former "President of the Irish Republic," was released from the Arbor Hill barracks jail under the general amnesty order signed by President William Cosgrave of the Irish Free State this morning.

Austin Stack, who was captured by the Free State forces and lodged in jail in April, 1923, was released with his former chief.

No crowds had assembled outside the prison and both prisoners passed out the gates unnoticed. Both appeared in excellent health.

It is understood that President Cosgrave had an interview with De Valera just after the latter left the prison. The President returned to the government buildings accompanied by several secretaries. He seemed perturbed.

After his release, De Valera saw some of his personal supporters and several of them proceeded to the house where he had a joyous meeting with his wife and children.

Asked for an interview he declined to make a statement at [illegible] but said:

"Our fight goes onward for the Irish Republic. Later in the week when I have considered the entire situation, I shall make a statement for the press."

Questioned as to whether he would remain in Ireland or go to the United States he answered:

"I cannot say at the moment but I would probably remain in Ireland."

BOBBED-HAIRED BEAUTIES RULE NEWPORT NOW

Dowagers Forced to Take Back Seat as Youth Comes Into Its Own

Newport, R. I., July 17.—Newport is on the eve of the greatest social session it has known since the days of Harry Lehr.

But alas! The days of the haughty dowager are gone forever. No more will the grand dames tread the marbled terraces of the Casino—no more will the austere matron lend her dignity to exclusive Bailey Beach.

The dignified matron is out of the picture so far as the social life of Newport is concerned. Her place, however, has been taken by the bobbed-haired women who today are recognized as the leaders of the country's most exclusive social sets.

BOBBED-HAIRED LEADERS.

Whether she be eighteen or eighty, the society matron disports on Bailey Beach in bathing suit of modern cut—dignity has been forgotten or else put away in moth balls, and Newport, as every other Summer resort, typifies the modern trend.

Prominent in the contingent of "bobbed-haired" leaders who are here already or who are shortly expected are Mrs. Sylvanus Stokes, Mrs. Carter Leidy, better known as Fifi Widener; Mrs. Roderick Tower, who was Flora Whitney; Mrs. Philip Rhinelander 2nd, who was formerly LeBrun Parsons; Mrs. Kenneth Budd, who was formerly Alice Burnham; the Princess de Braganza and Mrs. Helen Custer Gerard.

HONOR TENNIS PLAYERS.

One of the first big events of the season will be a reception given by Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt at Oakland Farm. It will be the first function for Mrs. Vanderbilt since her marriage last year and the guest list has been restricted to 300. Just how the "400" is to be squeezed into 300 is a secret, as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Duncan will give a ball on August 16 in honor of the tennis players participating in the invitation tournament.

BLAZING TRAIL AT NEWPORT

BARBARA BABY KEPT HERE BY AMERICAN

Prompt Action on Part of the Hearst Papers Saves an Italian-Born Child

Mother love has proven itself greater than the immigration laws of the United States.

Mrs. Filomena Barbara of Somerville, held at Ellis Island for the past five weeks with her year-and-a-half-old [illegible] Mario, has been ordered released along with her baby.

Mrs. Barbara was held because she refused to give up her youngest child who was born in Italy and was thus rated as an alien, although the mother lived in this country since she was a child and three other children were born to her in this country.

HEARST PAPERS AID.

There will be rejoicing in the Barbara home at No. 415 Somerville avenue, Somerville, late today when the mother and her baby arrive. She will be accompanied home by her husband, Paul Barbara, who for days kept his vigil outside the gates of Ellis Island, certain that his wife and child would not be sent back to Italy.

The release of the Barbara baby was brought about largely through the efforts of the Boston [illegible] and the Boston Advertiser, working in conjunction with the Washington Herald, a Hearst newspaper in the national capital.

When the plight of the Barbara family became known, the Hearst newspapers in Boston at once got in touch with the Hearst paper in Washington.

The Barbara home and the two older children of the couple were waiting to receive the mother and child should she be released, but there was told how the [illegible] law and the hard and fast rules of the immigration department could not be set aside.

FREED IN TWO HOURS.

The Hearst representatives in Washington took prompt steps to secure the release of the mother and child. After several minor officials of the Department of Labor were interviewed, the Hearst representatives secured a conference with Robert White, commissioner of the Bureau of Immigration. Mr. White called the solicitor of the department, Theodore G. Risley, into the conference. Finally the officials at Ellis Island were called on the telephone. H. H. Curran, commissioner of Immigration at New York, told what he knew of the case.

In less than two hours Uncle Sam officially declared that the Barbara baby could be admitted to the United States and the necessary papers were prepared and at once forwarded to New York.

FATHER A BARBER.

The two older Barbara children have been living at the home of Mrs. Marie de Sessa in the same building where Barbara has his own apartment awaiting the return of his bride. Within a few hours [illegible] be reunited with their mother and the entire family will be [illegible]. The family [illegible] when they went on a visit to Italy two years ago.

Barbara is a prosperous barber in Somerville and has lived in this country [illegible] years. His wife too was raised in this country. Two years ago they decided on a brief visit to Italy. They sailed, taking with them their three children. While in Italy the youngest child was born. A few weeks later the [illegible] couple a [illegible] and Mario [illegible] ushered into the world.

MEETING OF WELCOME.

When the family returned the immigration authorities were willing to admit all save the child born abroad.

The action of the Boston papers in having the official [illegible] has prevented the necessity of compelling the mother to make a decision between abandoning her child for deportation that she might come to Boston or, on the other hand, giving up her husband and two older children in Boston and returning to Italy with her baby.

At the time the release of the mother and child was effected, Mayor Webster of Somerville, Governor Cox and many influential citizens of Boston and Somerville were planning to make strong representations to the government.

A big meeting of protest had also been planned by the Italian Women's Club, but instead of a meeting of protest it will turn into a meeting of welcome for the mother and her baby upon their arrival here.

GIRL SAVES WOMAN; THEN DISAPPEARS

Mrs. Elizabeth Carruthers of [illegible] street, Cambridge, is hunting for an unidentified woman who saved her from drowning in the Charles River.

Mrs. Carruthers reports that her rescuer was an attractive young woman of about twenty years.

As Mrs. Carruthers was sinking [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in the rear of the Cambridge Hospital, the girl [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to bottom for [illegible] [illegible] body and towed her to [illegible].

ALL ABOARD FOR NEXT TRIP TO NANTASKET

Start Clipping Coupons If You Would Be American's Guests at Beach

All aboard for the shores of Nantasket next Tuesday morning!

"One of the best outings ever held at Nantasket," is what Sergeant Flowers of the Nantasket police thinks of the first Boston American outing of the season for the mothers and children of Greater Boston held on Tuesday.

And now for next week! Clip five consecutive coupons—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Bring them with ten cents to the headquarters of the Boston American, No. 288 Devonshire street—nowhere else.

Manager Lane of the Boston & Nantasket Steamship Company wants you to read your tickets carefully—especially the time. If it says 9:15 boat, or the 10:45 boat, it means just that and no other.

Free tickets for refreshments to Paragon Park, Sagamore Bathing House and other concessions will be distributed when you change your coupons at the Boston American.

Francis S. Cummings will be on hand with fresh, pasteurized Grade A milk and Howard J. Bushway of the Bushway Ice Cream Company will have truckloads of ice cream. Manager Sargent of the Berwick Cake Company also will be there with freshly baked cake. And Daddy Archer of the Moxie Company promises new surprises for next Tuesday's kiddies.

Remember to have mother or another guardian along, and only three persons from one family may go.

(See Page 2 for Coupon.)

SAFE ROADS BODY SUSPENDS AUTOIST

Clayton H. Hartford of No. 782 Dudley street, Dorchester, arrested in Weston on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, has been notified of his suspension as a member of the Safe Roads Federation of Massachusetts, an organization affiliated with the Massachusetts Safety Council.

"The several thousand members of the Federation are not only pledged to safe driving, but to drive from the highways drunken and unlicensed operators," the executive secretary of the organization, Lewis E. MacBrayne, wrote in notifying him of the action. "This is the first time that such a charge has been brought against one of our membership."

Seeks House Seat

Middleboro, July 17. — Walter Faunce, ninety-two, veteran county commissioner, is circulating nomination papers to go to the State Legislature.

THE Yankee stadium, home of the New York American League baseball club, has a seating capacity of 65,000 for baseball; 75,000 for football; and 50,000 for boxing. It cost $2,000,000.

"STRANGLER" OF BOY CONFESSES

Gen. Wood's Son Wins Fortune at Monte Carlo

BOY IS VICTIM OF FIENDISH SLAYER

FRANCIS P. McDONNELL

Eight-year-old son of Policeman Arthur McDonnell of Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., was brutally attacked and slain. An escaped inmate of an asylum has been arrested and is said to have confessed attacking the boy, but denied killing him.

Soviet Is Giving Vacation to Men in Jails

Moscow, July 17.—All the prisoners in Soviet jails for minor offences will be given vacations to participate in gathering the harvest. This applies especially to peasants and former Red army soldiers who are serving terms for offences committed owing to their reduced circumstances of living.

The central executive committee, which issued the harvest vacation decree, requested the prison authorities to assure themselves beforehand that the prisoners will return at the end of thirty days.

Bungalow Split in Twain as Tree Falls Through It

Mrs. Lillian Daly, storekeeper and Summer cottager on Sycamore avenue, Cochituate, is living in half a house now as a result of a miscalculation in chopping down a tree which once decorated her front yard.

The axemen who tackled the job failed to figure right, and the falling trunk crashed through the centre of the Daly bungalow. No one was injured, but the family piano was hammered through the floor.

CONFESSES ATTACKING SLAIN BOY

New York, July 17 (Universal).—Police at Kearny, N. J., arrested Jacob Herman, forty-nine years old, who escaped Monday from the State Insane Asylum at Morris Plains, as the fiendish slayer of eight-year-old Francis P. McDonnell, of Port Richmond, whose mutilated body was found Tuesday by Boy Scouts in shrubbery near his home.

Herman, it is declared by the police, confessed he attacked the McDonnell boy, but insisted he did not kill him.

Captain A. von Wagener, head of the Staten Island Detective Bureau, sent Detective Thomas Haggerty to Kearny to look the suspect over.

WOMAN ACCOSTED.

The message from Kearny said the man answers the description of one who, according to Mrs. Jennie Carlson, of Port Richmond, had followed her along a street. Mrs. Carlson said she had been accosted but repulsed the advances.

The murder of the McDonnell boy, son of Policeman Arthur McDonnell, was characterized by Captain von Wagener as one of the most brutal in the history of the department.

An autopsy revealed that the boy had been strangled with his own coat and also had been subjected to an attack. Marks on his body indicated that the boy had put up a terrific struggle to save himself.

SHUT OFF BOY'S CRIES.

There were also fingernail prints about his mouth, indicating that before his assailant had strangled his victim he had shut off his cries for help by clapping his hand over his mouth.

The body was found by two scouts after many residents of Port Richmond had organized a searching party and scoured the vicinity.

The scouts came upon their find in a clump of shrubbery not far from the McDonnell home. The boy was lying on his stomach, his face turned to the earth.

He was nude excepting for the gag about his throat formed with his own jacket. The assailant after slaying his victim had attempted to cover up his crime by spreading the clothing over the body.

"Sergeant" Patterson, a youthful employe of the Sea View Hospital on Staten Island, was grilled today by detectives.

The police say he will be held as a material witness or on some charge. Patterson was grilled. Jacob Gottlieb, a kitchen helper at the hospital, had told detectives of Patterson's alleged peculiarities.

WATERTOWN MAN IS HELD AS THIEF

Hollis M. Shaw, forty-seven years old, of Maplewod street, Watertown, was arrested by Inspector Kilday of Boston police headquarters on a secret indictment which charges him with the larceny of $3,631.16 from the Bospick Company, Inc., of No. 177 State street, Boston.

It is said Shaw was an officer in the company, but was not empowered to sell stock. It is alleged, however, he went to Vermont with some stock which he had obtained, disposed of it and failed to make a proper return to the company.

POLICE FIND BODY OF FRENCH AUTHOR

Rennes, France, July 17.—The decapitated body of the well-known writer, Leo Claretie, nephew of the late academician, Julies Claretie and first husband of Mme. Caillaux, was found today near Servin. The police, although certain that indications are compatible with foul play, are inclined to believe that the writer committed suicide. Inquiries revealed that he had recently quarreled with his second wife and had appeared despondent.

POLICEMAN ACCUSED OF ABUSING GIRL

A fifteen-year-old Malden girl and a policeman attached to the Joy street station, both of whose names are withheld, figured in an investigation by Captain McDevitt of that division.

Attaches of the Hotel Royal on Court street, West End, where the officer's offence against the girl is alleged to have been committed, are witnesses.

HUB SHIPS IN PATH OF FIRE

A spectacular fire lighted up Boston's waterfront, early today and for a time threatened a gasoline storage boat and other shipping until members of the fireboat Curtis, risking their lives, towed the petrol laden craft to safety.

The fire occurred near the end of Commercial Wharf. One city fireman was badly burned in fighting the blaze.

The fire started in a one-story building on the pier occupied by the Best Foods Company.

In the water, moored to the pier, was a fuel boat loaded with more than 1,000 gallons of gasoline. A building of the Halifax & Boston Steamship Company, adjoining the building where the fire originated, took fire.

The fireboat made a line fast to the gasoline carrier and she was towed to the middle of the harbor and anchored. The loss from the fire to the pier amounted to several thousand dollars.

3D WIFE CHUM OF 2D

Photos of third wife of Nixon-Nurdlinger, the impressario, who was Charlotte Nash, winner of the 1923 Atlantic City beauty prize. She and the former Laura McKenna, who was the impressario's second wife, crossed to Europe on the same steamship and compared notes on the way over.

EVOLVED OWN SYSTEM TO BEAT CASINO

New York, July 17.—When former Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood, son of Governor-General Leonard Wood of the Philippines played the New York stock markets by cable from Manila and cleaned up $700,000 he didn't even put a dent in his run of luck.

According to advices here the young man has been singularly successful at the gaming tables at Monte Carlo and has quit the famous Monaco Casino with winnings totaling more than half a million francs.

These reports reached New York from Manila, where an account of the gambling success of young Woods was discussed at great length in the Manila Times. Time and again, according to the story, Woods had the management of the gambling palace gasping for breath with his phenomenal successes.

Friends for the former officer declare that he was enabled to win over the gaming tables by playing a "system" which he perfected himself.

The present whereabouts of the young man are unknown, but it is believed he is still in Europe. It is reported in some quarters that he is preparing for a diplomatic career.

While singularly successful in making money with little effort, the activities of the son are believed to have been very harmful to his father's career. Young Woods has repeatedly and indignantly denied that his father ever had any part in his stock market manipulations or that he ever profited by them to the extent of a single penny.

GEN. HERSEY GOING TO FORT WRIGHT

Headquarters for New England's coast artillery will be moved to Fort Wright for the Summer when Brigadier-General Mark L. Hersey leaves for the Long Island coast artillery centre the first of next week.

At Fort Wright he will devote his attention to the work of the regulars, R. O. T. C., and National Guard troops on duty at Forts Wright, Adams and Terry.

7500 Pairs of Women's Glove Silk Hose

In dainty drop stitch and ribbed styles.

Careful investigation has not revealed a price elsewhere nearly so low as this— 1.45 a pair

NINE excellent colors and several designs. Daintiness—smart feminine daintiness—is the predominating characteristic of these good weight real "Mohawk" silk stockings. They have all the charm to complement filmy summer frocks and all the richness necessary to dark colored silks. The price is most surprising in comparison with those usually found and is possible only because of the magnitude of the purchase—every pair is perfect, fresh from the factory.

JESSE GUILFORD LEADS FIGHT FOR STATE GOLF CROWN

OUIMET IS NO LONGER IN PLAY

Jesse Guilford, the famous Woodland Siege Gun, wore a happy smile when he trotted out this morning to tee off for the third circuit of the Woodland course in the second-day play of the State amateur golf championship.

The Siege Gun is [illegible] giving [illegible] and his nearest competitor is [illegible] behind. He is at the top of the [illegible]. Witness his [illegible] round of [illegible] and his record-breaking round of [illegible].

OUIMET WITHDRAWS.

The unexpected withdrawal of Francis Ouimet, [illegible] amateur champion of many years in the past, who tied Guilford for first place with a pair of 72s, par all the way, for a total of 144, has not [illegible] left the field open to Guilford, who appears to be sweeping to another [illegible].

Ouimet's withdrawal, coming as it did on the heels of his [illegible] performance [illegible], was a great disappointment to golf fans, who had [illegible] the spectacle of a [illegible] struggle between Woodland's two most famous [illegible] for the State title. But Francis has been [illegible] business [illegible] in New York, and, being a conscientious [illegible], he would rather [illegible] his word than win any number of championships, so he has retired from the tournament and left the field pretty much to his fellow-member, the [illegible].

So now [illegible] that Guilford will have to turn to record-breaking stuff today and tomorrow to [illegible] [illegible] from Al Wade of [illegible], who did the [illegible] round in [illegible] and [illegible] Wade.

MOSSER LOW IN LIST.

Al Wade of [illegible] [illegible] the throng [illegible] and came back [illegible] to establish a new course record [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] state junior champion.

It is a [illegible] that [illegible] Mosser [illegible] was away down the list with [illegible] F. J. Wright is seventh with a [illegible] of 1[illegible]2. [illegible] is fourth with [illegible] [illegible] H. H. [illegible] and [illegible] W. A. Wh[illegible].

All Stars Win

The Boston All Stars defeated the North Reading A. C. [illegible] ing at the [illegible] 8 to 2. [illegible] a homer [illegible].

No-Hit Game

Montpelier, Vt., July 17.—A seven inning, no-hit, no-run game was pitched by "Little" Davis of the Montpelier team of the Quebec-Ontario-Vermont league against Newport of the Green Mountain league in an exhibition contest, which Montpelier won, 7 to 0. The game was called in the eighth because of rain.

GRAND CIRCUIT WON BY FAYETTE NATIONAL

Toledo, O., July 17.—The $5,000 Fort Miami stake for 2:07 trotters, most valuable of the events of the Grand Circuit meeting here, was raced and won by the Milwaukee gelding Fayette National, driven by Tom McKay. It was a bitterly fought race, the Murphy Stable entry, Trumpet, beating Fayette in the second heat.

Fayette National, because of his sensational race at Columbus last week, was favorite, selling for $300; Trumpet, $45; Greyworthy, $30; Guardian Trust, $25; Trampabit, $20, and the field, $10.

U. S. SWIMMERS QUALIFY FOR FINALS TODAY

Les Tourelles, France, July 17.—Johnny Weissmuller, Chicago; Les Smith, San Francisco, and Ralph Breyer, Northwestern University, the three Americans entered in the 400-meter Olympic swim, free-style, qualified for the semi-final event, while Pete des Jardens of Miami, Fla.; Clarence Pinkston, San Francisco, and Albert C. White, leland Stanford University, are finalists in the fancy high diving event. All six of these Americans won their respective contests in the elimination trials today.

Warren Kealona, Hawaii, and Paul Wyatt, Uniontown, Pa., are among those who will fight it out for the 100-meter backstroke championship. Henry Luning, Hawaii, although he finished first in his heat was disqualified on a charge that he "beat the gun" at the start of the race.

It was a bad day for the American women swimmers, Agnes Geraghty being the only one of them to qualify in the 200-meter breaststroke. Both Eleanor Coleman of Milwaukee and Matilda Snurich of New York were eliminated.

In the 200-meter breaststroke for men, Robert D. Skelton, Illinois A. C., broke the Olympic record. W. T. Kirschbaum, Hawaii, finished second.

The finals for the 400-meter free-style event today should prove a record-breaker, for Weissmuller, Charlton and Borg, Sweden, all have qualified.

"We will break five minutes tomorrow, won't we Andrew?" said Weissmuller to Charlton after the third heat today.

"What's the use so long as I beat you?" replied the Australian.

Belgium has reached the semi-finals in the olympic polo events by virtue of its defeat of Czechoslovakia, 5 to 1, and will meet the winner of the France-Sweden match.

AMERICAN TEAM IS WINNER AT REVERE

The American team of George Chapman and Clarence Carman, carried off top honors in the 40 mile motor paced team race at the Revere Cycle Track last night.

At the 10th mile the American team took the lead and was never again headed. The French team of Gustav Ganay and Henri Fossier finished second, four laps behind the Americans, and the mixed team of Frank Corey of Australia and Marcel Godivier of France was last, one lap behind Ganay and Fossier. The time was the fastest for a team race ever made on the track, 52 minutes, 47 1-5 seconds.

The one-mile tandem race was won by Frank Di Tianni and Archie Villa. This race was more exciting to the old-time fans than the feature event.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL ASSO. MAKES PLANS

Columbus, O., July 17.—The National Football League will meet in Chicago Saturday and Sunday, July 26 and 27, to arrange schedules for the coming season, President Joseph F. Carr announced today. Twenty clubs will be represented, franchises will be issued to Philadelphia and Kansas City and application for charters from two other large cities will come before the league for action. At this meeting clubs will post $1,000 cash to guarantee non-interference with players who still are eligible for college competition.

SEEDED STARS AT LONGWOOD ELIMINATED

Hugh Kelliher and Gerald Emerson, two tennis stars, seeded players of note who were picked to battle their way into the semi-finals, were eliminated in the fourth round in the Longwood Bowl singles tournament.

The elimination of these two seeded players leaves five other seeded players to battle this afternoon to place among the eight men who will clash in the semi-final round tomorrow afternoon. For this reason play should be exceptionally fast, for there are a number of good matches carded.

The feature match today appears to be the conflict between Wallace Johnson of Philadelphia, whose chop-stroking is favored to carry him to victory, and Jerry Lang of Columbia University.

The Nat Niles-Fritz Mercur match looms as a thriller. Niles, the Boston star, defeated A. H. Shaw of Boston, 7—5, 6—1, 6—2, with ease. He appears to be at the top of his form.

Play in the Longwood doubles has advanced to the round before the semi-finals, and a number of good matches are carded. Wallace Johnson and H. Johnson meet Irving Weinstein and C. O. Wellington, L. White and L. Thalheimer, intercollegiate champions, clash with H. Johnson and M. Hill, national boys' doubles champions, and Emerson and Lang battle with W. Kimball and S. F. Fennessy.

MISS WILLS AND MOLLA PLAY TODAY

Colombes, France, July 17.—Two members of the American Olympic lawn tennis team, R. Norris Williams, 2d, and Vincent Richards, reached the round before the semi-finals in the Olympic championships.

Their two compatriots, Francis T. Hunter and Watson M. Washburn, have been eliminated, the latter going out today.

Two members of the American women's team, Miss Helen Wills, the champion, and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, also attained positions among the last eight in the women's singles. Miss Eleanor Goss and Miss Lillian Scharman falling by the way side.

In the men's doubles, Richards and Hunter reached the last eight, defeating Zemla and Koselup of Czecho-Slovakia, 6—2, 6—3, 9—7. Williams and Washburn, with only a few minutes' rest after their singles matches, entered the centre court to play their doubles match against Tegner and Ulrich of Denmark. Washburn was so erratic in his match against Jacob, making so many errors that the Indian Davis cup star had no trouble in winning.

Mrs. Molla Mallory of Norway, ex-American woman champion, won her match and today will meet Miss Helen Wills of California for the first time since Miss Wills won the title in 1923.

SURPRISE SAILS TO WIN AT MARBLEHEAD

Marblehead, July 17.—While three of the "Rs" were racing outside for the Quincy Yacht Club Challenge Cup, the juniors sailed their regular Wednesday afternoon matches of the Corinthian Yacht Club. In all 20 small craft, handled by juniors, seven "O" boats, two Fish catboats, and an even dozen of the Brutal Beasts took part in the sport. The Surprise was an easy winner among the "O" boats, but there was a pretty fight for second among Tip Top, Sans Souci and Bimboo II, with the first mentioned winning. With Miss Priscilla Rothwell as crew on the Tip Top, was Miss Constance Percival, who returned last Saturday from Europe, and today sailed her first race of the season.

The first race of the season of the Pleon Yacht Club will be sailed Friday afternoon with the first signal at 2:30.

CANADIAN CREW IN ROWING FINAL TODAY

Argenteuil, France, July 17.—The Toronto University crew of Canada won the final eight-oared elimination trial of the Olympic regatta and earned the right to meet America's famous Yale eight, the Thames Club of Great Britain and Italy's crew today in the blue ribbon event. Seven championships will be contested over the picturesque Seine River course.

The Canadians, rowing steadily and smoothly, defeated Argentina, Australia and Belgium this afternoon in the keenest-fought race of any of the trials. The Argentines came from behind with a closing spurt to take second place, with the Australians third and the Belgians fourth.

Short Sports of All Sorts

THE field of competitors for the Illinois tennis State title is pared to the leading contenders in today's fourth round play in the men's singles. In the men's doubles, play was advanced into the second round.

William Tilden, II, of Philadelphia, encountered his first serious opposition yesterday when he defeated Wray Brown of St. Louis, 7 of the champion's games going to deuce. The Australian contingent was further reduced by the defeat of Dick Schlesinger by Luke Williams, Chicago.

Bob Kinsey of the California delegation went out of the running by default to Billy Kinsel of Chicago, in order to prepare for the doubles competition.

Coach Fielding H. Yost and his corps of assistants have introduced motion pictures as a means of instruction in their classes in athletic coaching in the summer season of the University of Michigan. Both slow and fast movies of Michigan's big games are shown on the screen for the benefit of the coaches studying under Yost.

Although a downpour of rain late last night and intermittent showers early this morning had flooded the countryside thereabouts, the Grand Circuit races at Fort Miami Park, Toledo, will be staged today. It is believed a moderate amount of rain will greatly benefit the track, which has been dust-dry.

The entire golf team of Princeton University has entered for the Western Amateur Golf Championship, which begins at Hinsdale Golf Club, Chicago, on Monday, which will be among those who contest the right of Chick Evans to win the title for the ninth time.

The Atlantic Coast school selected its team from Western golfers mostly, being Robert Stearns, T. M. Green of Seattle, and Burton Mudge and George Hackl, of Chicago. Edward Cornish, champion of Exeter, has entered. In fact many university golfers will be represented either by students or alumni.

Chicago, July 17.—If Black Gold, America's leading contender for premier three-year-old honors of 1924, wins the Raceland Derby at Ashland, Ky., next Saturday afternoon the little black son of Black Toney-Useeit will have eclipsed the record of the famous Claude, which, in 1903, won four Derby classics.

Later, in the same year, Claude added to his racing glory by finishing second to The Picket in the American Derby at the famous Washington Park course here.

Lieutenant H. B. Sheets of the 35th Infantry, Scofield Barracks, Hawaii, maintained his lead in the third day of shooting for membership in the United States Infantry national match rifle team.

Lieutenant Sheets' score for three days of shooting was 851 out of a possible 900. Lieutenant M. L. Brodrick was second with 848. Captain L. S. Spooner rose to third place today with 843.

Eugene Leigh, trainer of Epinard, decided to ship his horse to Saratoga Springs the latter part of next week.

R. T. Wilson, Jr., has reserved one of the steel barns at Horse Haven across the road from the regular track at Saratoga Springs, for Epinard.

Everybody who sees the horse finds much to admire.

President Ban Johnson of the American League reinstated Stanley Harris, manager of the Washington club, suspended last Monday for protesting against Umpire Holmes' decision on balls and strikes.

Harris' protests so excited the Washington fans that Holmes was made the victim of an attack. Harris will be eligible to play tomorrow.

A heavy shower put an end to the opening racing at Woodstock, N. B., after two heats had been completed.

Alfred King, former Boston-owned trotter, won the opening heat of the 2:16 mixed event in a close finish from a field of ten. As the junior free-for-allers got away the shower broke. Saccharose, in John Willard's stable again, won the heat.

The harness meet which opened at Youngstown, O., Monday, bringing the return of trotters and pacers after an absence of three years, has proved a financial failure and it was called off today.

Billy Flemming had a field day at Northampton, the Readville reinsman winning two of the three events on the Bay State circuit program and getting second money in a third.

To make the victory more complete, Johnny Campbell, his second trainer, landed fourth money in the 2:09 pace and third in the three-year-old trot with horses from Flemming's stable.

New Pitcher Leaves Yanks

New York, July 17.—Cliff Markle has deserted the Yankees. The pitcher obtained from the St. Paul Club recently packed up his belongings after the game Tuesday and left town, probably for his home in Pittsburg. Paul Krichell, the scout, drew the assignment from Ed Barrow to locate the missing pitcher.

Cooler Breakfasts

Tomorrow's breakfast prepared with tonight's dinner—a QUICK QUAKER delight

Try this new recipe

HERE is the richest ... of hot weather breakfasts. Made of oats ... supremely nourishing and invigorating too.

As you prepare dinner tonight cook your regular breakfast quantity of QUICK QUAKER (the new Quaker Oats that cooks in three to five minutes).

When done, pour into a pudding mould and let cool. Then place in the refrigerator over night. Cut in medium thick slices and serve at breakfast with fresh or cooked fruits or berries and sugar—float with rich milk or cream.

The combination is delightful. A world noted chef discovered this new way. Just for the joy of it, try it.

Standard full size and weight packages—
Medium: 1¼ pounds; Large: 3 pounds, 7 oz.

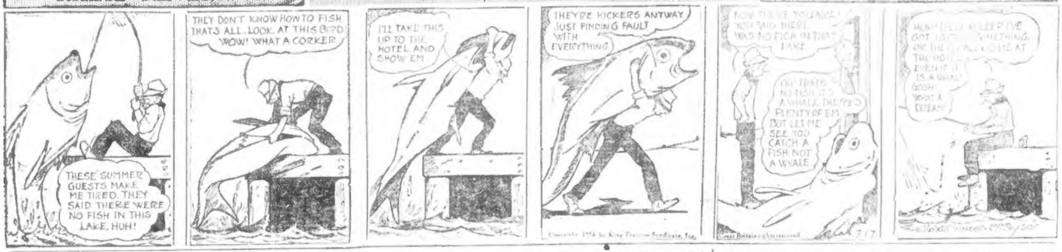
RABID REVERIES

A Tired Fisherman

By Winsor McCay, Jr.



THESE SUMMER GUESTS MAKE ME TIRED. THEY SAID THERE WERE NO FISH IN THIS LAKE, HUH!
THEY DON'T KNOW HOW TO FISH THATS ALL. LOOK AT THIS BIRD! WOW! WHAT A CORKER
I'LL TAKE THIS UP TO THE HOTEL AND SHOW 'EM
THEY'RE KICKERS ANYWAY JUST FINDING FAULT WITH EVERYTHING
HOW TIS YE YOU ARE! YOU SAID THERE WAS NO FISH IN THAT LAKE
OH! THATS NO FISH IT'S A WHALE. THERE'S PLENTY OF EM. BUT LET ME SEE YOU CATCH A FISH NOT A WHALE
HOW'D I FALL ASLEEP I'VE GOT TO TAKE SOMETHING OR THE FELLAS UP AT THE HOTEL EVEN IF IT IS A WHALE GOSH! WHAT A DREAM!

FAMOUS FIRSTS

By Mark Stuyvesant

SEPTEMBER 27, 18[illegible], was a [illegible] of triumph for George Stephenson. An engine he had constructed drew a train from Stockton to Darlington, England.

Many people had gathered to watch the experiment; they were certain it would fail. A horseman rode in front of the engine—he was sure the horse would outrun the engine!

But the people who had come to laugh and the horseman who had come to scoff were [illegible]. Stephenson's engine pulled the ninety tons of the train to Darlington and ran as high as fifteen miles an hour.

George Stephenson was born in a little village near Newcastle-on-Tyne on June 9, 1781. Due to the poverty of his family, George received little or no education. But he was a clever boy, who seemed much more interested in watching the engine in the mine in which his father worked than to play with his friends. He watched it, [illegible] had built engines like it out of clay.

When he was old enough he was [illegible]

A few years later George Stephenson [illegible]

[illegible]

He was called to build a railway between Liverpool and Manchester. Both Stephenson and his son worked on this engine and in spite of the fact that they had severe competition, their "Rocket," as they called it, was selected. On September 15, 1830, the first railway in the history of the world was opened.

Stephenson became rich as well as famous, for after that railways were started all over the world.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Health Commissioner

LOOK at the pendulum of a clock and see how it swings back and forth as long as the springs of the clock give it motion. Then note how it finally comes to rest when the clock has run down.

Dr. Mahoney.

When the pendulum finally stops all movement it is resting on its centre of gravity. Do not forget that the human body has a centre of gravity the same as the pendulum.

If you carry a heavy suitcase in one hand, you immediately hunch the one shoulder and throw your body far over to the side, thus unconsciously acting on the proper centre of gravity. The weight of the suitcase has disturbed the old centre of gravity. [illegible]

BONUS PROBLEMS SOLVED FOR PUZZLED VETS

To bonus veterans—

Quit your worrying about that adjusted compensation application and the answers to questions therein.

Let us to do the worrying. Sit down for a moment and tell us what your troubles are.

Anything you don't understand about the bonus? Any knotty question phasing you? Are you in doubt as to correct answers or as to the finger-printing, mailing, etc.?

Let the American-Advertiser Soldiers' Friend Bureau do your worrying. It's a free service. Write us a letter or come in personally and we'll adjust your complexities in a jiffy.

Here are some of the questions received and the answers:

H. H., BOSTON, MASS.

Q.—Is a man who has been honorably discharged from the Merchant Marine service, serving during the war, entitled to any bonus?

A.—A veteran entitled to the benefits of the Bonus Law must have been a member of the military or naval forces of the United States, and members of the Merchant Marine are not included.

J. W. B., FT. FAIRFIELD, ME.

Q.—I enlisted September 3, 1917, and was honorably discharged April 19, 1919, having served eighteen months in France. How much would I be entitled to and where can I get a blank?

A.—From your length of service you will be entitled to an adjusted service credit of $625, which is the maximum allowed by the bonus law. This amount multiplied by 2½ will approximately give you the face value of the twenty-year paid-up insurance certificate which you will receive. If you cannot get a blank at any postoffice, American Legion post or Red Cross, write to us again and we shall be glad to send you one.

C. H. S., Fort Adams, Newport, R. I.

Q.—The bonus application in Item No. 10, provides for but one beneficiary to be named by the applicant. I want the insurance to be paid equally to three different persons. Is this allowed?

A.—The bonus law provides that the veteran shall name the beneficiary and may from time to time, with the approval of the Director of the Veterans' Bureau, change such beneficiary. The law does not contain any provision for naming more than one beneficiary. After you have filed your application, you may take the matter of your inquiry up to the director at Washington.

MRS. J. P. C., Hyde Park.

Q.—Please inform me if I am entitled to the bonus. My husband served in the World war but did not get across. He lost his business and is unable to get work.

A.—If your husband is living he is the only person who is eligible to make application for the bonus. If he is physically or mentally unable to do so himself, you may make the application in his behalf, as provided in the instructions accompanying each blank.

E. F. B., Fall River

Q. I am doubtful how much bonus I will receive. I was serving in the Canal Zone on July 27, 1917, when my regiment was ordered to the United States and I served in various camps during the war, receiving my discharge about April 28, 1919. Where can I get an application blank?

A. From your length of service you will be entitled to the maximum credit of $500 for all home service which will make the face value of your insurance certificate about $1,250. Bonus application blanks may now be obtained from any post office, or other veterans' headquarters.

E. E. F., Norwood.

Q.—I enlisted April 6, 1917, served as radio instructor at the Harvard Radio School and then went aboard ship to do patrol duty and transport service from August, 1917, to May, 1919. How will my compensation be figured? Can I obtain an application blank from my local agency?

A.—After deducting the first 60 days of home service, you will be entitled to a credit of $1 a day for such service, plus $1.25 a day for overseas service, which includes service afloat, but not on receiving ships. This sum, when you have found the total of your credits, multiply by two and one-half, which will give you the approximate face value of the insurance certificate which will be issued to you. The bonus applications are now available for distribution at any postoffice, American Legion post or other veterans' organization.

F. G. M., Boston.

Q.—I enlisted in the N. R. F. August 16, 1917, and was released from active service October 10, 1919, part of my service being on board a transport and part at home. How much will my bonus amount to?

A.—After deducting the first 60 days of home service, you will be entitled to a credit of $1 a day for such service and $1.25 a day for overseas service, which includes service afloat, but not on a receiving ship. This sum when multiplied by 2½ will give you the approximate face value of your twenty-year paid up insurance certificate.

THIEVING CASHIER KILLED BY FRIEND

Rock Springs, Wyo., July 17—Clyde N. Fisher, cashier of the Gunn Quealy Coal Company here, who disappeared at the same time the semi-monthly payroll of the company vanished, was shot and fatally wounded by J. Walker, mine foreman and at one time friendly to Fisher.

A search of the vicinity revealed a cache of food, water and blankets and also the entire payroll of the company totalling more than $6,000.

UNLICENSED DRIVER INJURES CYCLIST

Allen Lake, fifteen, of No. 157 Cabot street, Roxbury, while riding his bicycle on Newbury street, near Charlesgate West, was knocked from his machine by Paul E. Tossier, eighteen, of No. 546 Newbury street, Back Bay. Lake was removed to the City Hospital where it was found he was suffering multiple contusions and abrasions of the head and body.

Tossier was arrested charged with operating without a license.

LEOPOLD AND LOEB PLANNED WIRE TAPPING

Chicago, July 17 (Universal).—Tattered, frayed bits of evidence, which will probably be introduced to support the insanity defence of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb in their trial for the murder of Robert Franks, are being disclosed.

Alienists have learned that in the quest of the youths for a [illegible] which would relieve the humdrum of college work, Leopold and Loeb had first set upon kidnaping the elder Leopold.

The fact that it would have been difficult to collect a ransom because Mrs. Leopold was dead, caused them to drop the plan.

Then they considered the plan of kidnaping the ten-year-old brother of Loeb, Tommy.

The minuteness of the plans the two youths had worked out to make theirs the "crime superb," was further exemplified in the revelations that they had planned to "tap" the telephone wires leading to the home of Attorney Charles Erbstein, personal counsellor of Jacob Franks, father of their victim. It would enable them to keep in touch with developments, put them on their guard. They would be on the absolute "inside."

AMERICAN LIFE GUARDS TO END BEACH MENACE

At the North End Beach, one of the most popular bathing places for the kiddies, the Boston American's investigation has disclosed only one City of Boston lifeguard on duty at a time.

This is one of the many beaches that will be protected by the trained expert lifesavers of the Boston American's volunteer lifesaving corps.

Mothers and fathers, as well as the children themselves, who cool off in the North End on hot Summer days, have received the American's campaign with unbounded enthusiasm.

FIFTY GET SUITS

Regulation lifeguard swimming suits will be presented free to the first fifty volunteers who are accepted for the Boston American's corps, after passing the Red Cross life-saving test. These suits will distinguish them in their humanitarian work.

Joseph Conway, president of the Horace Partridge Company, athletic outfitters of No. 49 Franklin street, enthusiastically volunteered to "come through" for the cause and will provide the suits, the entire cost to be borne by the company.

Jack Werby, captain of the [illegible] High School life-saving corps, called today to offer the services of himself and his entire corps, consisting of twelve senior lifesavers and fifteen or twenty juniors, all of whom have passed the Red Cross test. These boys are all experts at life-saving in the water and several have been able already to save lives through their knowledge of the work.

The Massachusetts Safety Council, which is engaged in a great campaign to make Massachusetts roads safe, today heartily endorsed the Boston American's drive for safer beaches in a statement issued by Lewis E. MacBrayne, general manager.

FIRST TESTS FRIDAY

"The Boston American is engaged in a timely and worthy purpose in its organization of a movement to prevent drownings in Metropolitan Boston," wrote Mr. MacBrayne.

"At least a hundred lives were lost in accidents in the State last year that could have been saved had the necessary measures been taken to remove the cause or to bring about quick rescue and resuscitation.

"The vacation period is a time when countless children are permitted to go to the water front, with no knowledge on the part of their parents as to whether they are to be properly supervised. The establishment of a volunteer life guard corps will give the protection and will enlist hundreds of young men and girls in the service of saving lives."

The first coaching and tests by Red Cross experts will be held Friday morning at Magazine Beach, Cambridge. Every volunteer is urged to be present. Hundreds of applications have been received, but more are wanted. The American's organization will be made the basis of a permanent corps to make every beach near Boston safe.

THIRD ATTEMPT TO BURN HOUSE FAILS

The third attempt within a [illegible] to destroy the home of Arthur W. [illegible], at No. 50 Aberdeen avenue, Cliftondale, by throwing rags soaked in gasoline throughout the house, was frustrated when Mrs. [illegible], noticing smoke pouring from the addition on the rear of the house, called the fire department and assisted the bucket brigade in extinguishing the flames.

Saugus police started an investigation and intimated that they will call in the State board.

LACKED DRINK SO BANDIT BEAT HIM

Unable to produce a "drink" for a thirsty young bandit, Thomas Roche, fifty years old, of No. 26 Church street, Salem, was beaten and robbed while walking near Salem Willows. He is at the Salem Hospital.

Roche told police he gave the bandit money and directed him to a place in Salem where he could satisfy his thirst. Then, according to his story, the bandit struck him over the head.

WORCESTER MAN SAVES GIRL'S LIFE

Keene, N. H., July 17.—After she had gone down for the second time in the waters of Wilson Pond, Miss Rosalind Levine, a high school girl, was saved from drowning by Harry Melnon of Worcester, Mass., who was on the beach nearby.

The first young man who attempted to save Miss Levine suffered cramps and had to release his hold.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury

HISTORIANS claim that jewelry is a relic of barbarism. If this is true there are thousands of wild women roaming the streets today.

AND the more jewelry they own, the wilder they get.

STILL many a girl has been tamed by a diamond.

A GIRL with sixteen rings, four brooches, three lavallieres and a bracelet fears nobody.

WITH this much jewelry she can afford to be independent.

IF you don't think that jewelry is a relic of barbarism, just give your sweetheart a diamond ring today and try and take it away from her tomorrow.

SHE'LL fight you to the last lawyer.

PEOPLE are no longer supposed to be savages, but just present your fiancee with a phoney stone and see how mad she gets.

WHERE DID HE GO?

A few would be grateful if he could put his body together, come back and answer the question.

A majority of us think little about it, although before a hundred years shall have passed all the sixteen hundred million human beings on earth will have to say, "Here I go."

Three Good Dresses

Editor Helping Hand:

I have three good serge dresses that will fit a ten or twelve year old girl and one eighteen. I want these to go to a family that truly do need clothes. Now, will somebody help me. I want and cannot either buy here or find where I can buy "Tattered Tom," by Alger; also the sheet music or music cut from a paper with words "On the Sidewalks of New York," also the book "Belle of Australia" by Captain Smith. I will buy these things if anyone will help me by telling me where I can get them. I will have more things later to help someone. I love to help when I can and to those that really need it.

MRS. E. G.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. E. P., whose husband deserted her, leaving five small children for her to support. As soon as we get replies regarding the articles you want, we will communicate with you.

FINANCE

— By B. C. Forbes —

What is [illegible] our owners of profitable businesses to hand them over, either as outright gifts or for a consideration, to employes?

A list of such [illegible] was given in yesterday's column.

My reasoning is that a new and nobler spirit is gradually making headway among the finest type of American business men.

* * *

At the opening of this century our business Napoleons became possessed by a mania for getting rich quickly. They were eager to become multimillionaires overnight. All sorts of trusts and mergers and consolidations and deals were hurriedly put through. Capitalizations were grossly inflated. Stocks consisting largely of water were listed on the New York Stock Exchange and foisted upon the public at unwarranted prices. The most notable merger of all was, of course, that of the United States Steel Corporation. It is said to have made a hundred millionaires. It's common stock was so watered that after the [illegible] and shouting ceased, it sank to below $9 a share, after having been palmed off on the public in large quantities higher [illegible] a share.

The mere possession of millions of dollars then made a man a notable figure. He was pointed out to the gaping public wherever he went. The [illegible] Croesus strutted around like a peacock. He was in love with himself, in love with his [illegible] and admired and he was [illegible] by the multitude.

* * *

By and by, however, the man in the street began to ask, not "How much has he got?" but "How did he make it?"

Multimillionaires were [illegible] the defensive, so to speak. Some of them could [illegible] rendered at all commensurate with the amount of money they had taken from the public. [illegible] blindly envied the multimillionaire began to [illegible].

* * *

Also, the possession of millions didn't always bring all the blessings anticipated. Many who [illegible] coveted [illegible] gain them the things they most coveted. It could not [illegible] the higher circles of society. It could not always open the doors of exclusive clubs. It [illegible] erably, in many instances, to bring domestic harmony [illegible] brought [illegible] bring [illegible].

[illegible] an influence [illegible] extraordinary development we are now witnessing [illegible] ing over of successful businesses by the owners to their employes.

* * *

After all, [illegible] to their [illegible] of [illegible] is spent [illegible] business [illegible] largely [illegible].

* * *

[illegible] up [illegible] own [illegible] materially [illegible] not [illegible] business [illegible] achieved by [illegible] or less magnitude.

* * *

Is it [illegible] therefore [illegible] have [illegible] they [illegible] should [illegible] give [illegible] who helped [illegible] wealthy?

* * *

There [illegible] generation [illegible] character [illegible] contain [illegible] osity [illegible] thropy [illegible] of affairs [illegible] tury.

Rockefeller [illegible] once [illegible] the whole [illegible] record. [illegible] have given away [illegible] from half [illegible] millions of dollars [illegible] the world. For every Eastman and Baker and [illegible] whose [illegible] known, there are [illegible] hundreds who succeed in keeping their large-scale [illegible] from reaching the newspapers. More and more of our financial and business leaders [illegible] satisfaction in doing [illegible] ers. More and more [illegible] men prefer to [illegible] ing their lifetime [illegible] their money until death releases their clutch on it.

* * *

In the realm of [illegible] gold used to rule. The [illegible] is now beginning to come into its own.

In common with the general experience of the iron and steel and allied lines, the earnings of the Walworth Manufacturing Co. this year are not up to the excellent 1923 performance.

Nevertheless, Walworth more than earned the entire year's dividends on both classes of stock in the five months ended May 31 last. The company is paying 7 per cent on the $1,[illegible] of its preferred and $1 a share on the outstanding [illegible] shares of common.

This will leave the profits of the remaining seven months of the year to be added to surplus. Last year Walworth sold more than [illegible] worth of goods and earned $2 a share for the common after preferred dividends.

NEW INDICATOR TELLS TRADE 'LIKE CLOCK'

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

To measure and forecast trade [illegible] the precision of a clock, [illegible] possible by means of a new business indicator recently devised and now being perfected by Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co.

The device is based on the record of [illegible] furnace operations.

Because of its simplicity and its tested efficiency the index promises to have a revolutionary effect in the field of business prophecy.

Its present indications are that industry is still in the downward swing of the business cycle, that recovery should begin late in 1924, with probable attainment of normal by the middle of 1925; and that the stock market is in the midst of a "technical" bull movement.

Thus it will be noted that the new indicator sizes up all the markets and [illegible].

Inferences drawn from the new barometer foreshadow the overturning of a number of long standing beliefs in finance and business. One of these, according to the bank's July bulletin, pertains to the dominant factor in the course of stock market prices.

"It now appears that stock prices, as well as bond prices, are determined by current interest rates, and not by the discounting of future business prospects, long regarded as the determining factor of the stock market movements," says the bulletin.

"When industry falls below normal interest rates decline and bond prices rise, and so do stock prices.

"In recent months this principle has operated with striking accuracy. The clear indication of the index is that we are now in a technical bull market for industrial stocks and good bonds. This does not mean that we may not have a new low dip for industrial stocks, and especially for those that are speculative in character.

"There is nothing mysterious about the main causes of the present decline of general business. It has come because the great shortages in building construction, railroad equipment, automobiles and and machinery for public utilities, that had accumulated during the war and post-war years, has largely been made up by the industrial activity of 1922 and 1923. Since the powerful stimulus caused by these great demands has been removed, business has slowed down.

"Politics, the bonus, taxation, the weather and unsettled conditions abroad have had little to do with the current decline in business. The fact is that having largely made up our automobile shortage and given our railroads adequate equipment, our business, trade and industry are now powerfully and depressingly affected by conditions that are partly the products of the war."

"MARJORIE" IS LIVELY GOOD COMEDY

Merry Moments of Bright Entertainment Furnished at Shubert

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

MUSICAL comedy for warm people on hot nights started new surprises at the Shubert last evening, with "Marjorie" as the frolicking companion to make you forget the soaring mercury. It is only fair to say that the theatre was cooler than the street.

With the arrival of "Marjorie" came a flock of friendly faces and a full load of talent, beginning with Elizabeth Hines, who has toyed with our affections in numerous Summer diversions provided by George M. Cohan.

But Miss Hines did not have the evening all to herself, for Andrew Tombes, of solemn face and droll ways; Richard (Skeets) Gallagher, who appeared to have a friend or two in the audience, and Roy Royston, of undoubted imported London stock, tripped merrily through the evening to good tunes and lively comedy.

It was a large evening for those who enjoy renewing acquaintances with familiar personalities.

STAR SPRITELY.

Miss Hines, who is having the thrill of her first engagement on a stage presided over by the Shuberts, was as lovely and sprightly as anyone could desire, and she easily fell into the semi-serious dramatic ways of "Marjorie" without batting the well-known eyelash. Of course she excels in song and dance—and fair looks. But a friendly audience made her feel at home from the start and she responded in honest fashion.

Out of the evening dropped many moments of good entertainments, with honors rather evenly divided between Miss Hines and her perspiring companion. Ethel Shutta, who for some reason didn't have her name turned into the printed program in large type gallantly made up for the omission by contributing more than her share toward keeping everybody's spirits in good form. She's a gay girl worth knowing in any old musical play.

Mr. Tombes, of course, took very good care of himself, much to the general welfare of "Marjorie," and Mr. Gallagher spoke his own bright lines in the manner of snappy young men of the period.

With an accent fresh from Piccadilly, Mr. Royston gave plain evidence of a new and successful invasion by the English. But it wasn't altogether his accent that carried him through the performance, for he danced, sang and acted like a veteran of a score of campaigns on Broadway.

SAFE FOR CHILDREN.

"Marjorie" stepped off on a hard first night with character and color. It revealed music worth hearing, comedy situations light enough to catch the eye and ear of mid-July play-goers and costumes that suggested good taste and modesty.

Mr. Casey, our persistent public censor, who views these things with a cold eye had nothing to do all evening but enjoy himself. "Marjorie" is not only safe for the children but its good enough to be enjoyed by those of voting age. It's a good show.

GAMBLING CLUB BEAUTY KILLS HERSELF

Berlin, July 17.—The Countess von Fischler Treuberg, known as Pussi Uhl, once a celebrated beauty of Berlin and who later ran a fashionable gambling club for the German aristocracy, committed suicide. Her death came on the day of the dismissal of criminal proceedings against her which she has been fighting for four years.

The club operated by the Countess was raided in 1920 after it had been running wide open day and night. Numerous members of the highest German aristocracy were arrested. Sentence was passed upon the Countess, but she appealed, and her lawyers induced the court to dismiss the case because it was so old and the matter involved "so small."

INVENTOR CLAIMS POWER FROM MATTER

Berlin, July 17.—A new invention to release the force supposed to be stored in matter and convert it into power for machinery, is claimed by Otto Conrad, an engineer of Berlin.

Technical experts are very skeptical, but Conrad himself enjoys a high reputation. His machine consists of a complicated set of metal plates and wires, which, started by means of a weak current of electricity produces electric power twenty times as strong.

Conrad himself is unable to tell where the increased energy comes from. At first he believed it was due to the utilization of ether waves, but he has now come to the conclusion that the energy is released by the metal plates themselves.

BURGLAR ALARM HAS TO BE BROKEN

Lawrence, July 17.—A burglar alarm ringing for more than one hour and drawing several hundred people to the scene who expected to see some wild excitement, had to be put out of commission by the police.

The alarm was placed on the side of the building occupied by the Doykos fur house to protect their stocks from the incursions of thieves.

REPARATIONS CONFERENCE IN 2D SESSION

London, July 17 (A.P.)—The inter-allied conference, called for the purpose of putting into execution the Dawes report on German reparations, prepared to get down to serious business today. Three technical committees, appointed to formulate an agenda on the basis of the Franco-British communique of July 9, continue their work.

The importance with which the European powers view America's participation in the conference was clearly indicated at the opening session which was attended by plenipotentiaries representing ten nations. Premier MacDonald, formally welcoming the delegates at the Foreign Office, remarked that he hoped the American representatives, Ambassador Kellogg and Colonel James A. Logan, Jr., although only official spectators, would be able to help Europe out of the present reparations chaos.

Ambassador Kellogg, in replying to Premier MacDonald's welcome, said that although the delegates from the United States were not present in the same capacity or with the same powers as the other delegates, because America was not a party to the Versailles treaty or the sanctions now in force, they had come in the same spirit and with a desire to be helpful. He stressed the interest of the United States in the matter of wishing to be helpful in trying to solve "the greatest economic problem which has faced Europe in generations."

The British dominions today are to add their own delegates to the conference.

ESSEX COUNTY WOMEN HEAR DALLINGER

Today was "Dallinger Day" at Salem Willows, where Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger of Cambridge, candidate for the United States Senate, addressed a large audience of Republican women.

The meeting was one of a series of fortnightly gatherings held under the auspices of the Essex County Division of the Massachusetts Republican Women's Club, for the purpose of acquainting its membership with the various candidates running for office this Fall.

Speaking of the accomplishment of the Republican Party in foreign affairs, Mr. Dallinger said: "The success of the Washington Conference is a matter of history. In addition to stopping for the next ten years the competitive building of battleships, the conference agreed to the abandonment of the use of poisonous gases and the practice of sinking merchant ships by submarines without warning.

"This conference did more to promote peace and good will among the leading nations of the earth than any other event in all history." He also lauded President Coolidge and the Republican Party for taking a definite and unequivocal stand in favor of the United States immediately becoming a member of the World Court.

GUNNERS REPULSE BRAZIL INSURGENTS

Washington, July 17.—The Brazilian Embassy announced that the Federal troops were making still further advances against the rebels. The government artillery is superior to that of the opposing forces and is causing the rebels to give way, the report stated.

PHONE RATES DECISION IS DUE TODAY

E. Mark Sullivan Warns Attwill Against Such Hasty Action

Whether the proposed increase in toll rates asked for by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company will be allowed temporarily, or suspended further, will be decided today by the State Department of public utilities.

This decision has been made by Chairman Henry C. Attwill over the protest of E. Mark Sullivan, corporation counsel for the City of Boston.

Sullivan warned the commission that any such action would be a hasty one and will be resented by the public.

FURTHER TIME ASKED.

He argued that no temporary award should be made, either on the tolls or the private branch exchanges, until the city has had further time to study and analyse figures submitted by the company in support of its claim for the need of more revenue.

"If the company stopped pyramiding its depreciation reserve there would be no need for the increase," he pointed out. "After they have boosted this reserve high enough they will issue stock against it."

He charged that this manipulation is but a "sly way to renew an old practice."

RAPS TRAFFIC EXPENSE.

The traffic expenses of the company, he contended, are out of all proportion.

"If you can't run a telephone company without bringing in expensive fellows from outside," he said to Charles S. Pierce, general counsel for the company, "it is about time you discharged your own traffic experts."

He said that he knew the increased rates, if granted temporarily, would never come down.

Traffic charges, he claimed, are eight times higher now than they were in 1922.

One way to reduce, he said, is by discharging some of the higher salaried traffic force.

LARGE FEES DENIED

He called attention to the fact that legal expenses of the company run between $150,000 and $200,000 a year.

This was denied by Attorney Pierce, who suggested that Sullivan be sworn if he was going to testify. Pierce also denied that large fees were paid to a Boston law firm.

In its petition, the company asks that 15, 20 and 25 cent toll calls be reduced on the initial period from five to three minutes and that charges in excess of 30 cents be increased five cents for every unit of five cents.

INDUSTRY PROTEST

At the opening of the session Chairman Attwill read a letter from the Associated Industries protesting against any increase in the private branch exchange rates.

Increasing this service from 200 to 400 per cent., the association held, would be excessive. While the members of the Association had no desire to secure service at less than cost, the letter continued, several phases of the situation should be gone into to prevent discrimination before any decision is given by the department.

Much of the time of the session was devoted to an examination of Samuel H. Mildram, expert for the city, by Attorney Pierce. During the examination, which was technical, Pierce sought to discredit the conclusion reached by Mildram in his analysis of the company's figures.

CAPE COD OUTING FOR DISABLED VETS

Veterans from the Adams Hospital in Chelsea will be taken on an outing to Provincetown today on the steamship Dorothy Bradford as guests of the manager, Frederick Peabody.

The party will be in charge of the Willing Workers' league represented by Mrs. William J. Scott and Miss Stella Adams of Brookline and Miss Marion Mulhall of Dorchester.

'GREEN' BEER HAD 44 P. C. ALCOHOL

Scranton, Pa., July 17.—This city has figured prominently as one of the wettest spots in the United States since prohibition became effective, but a brand new feature was added to Scranton's reputation today.

Federal agents seized a carload of beer at Dunmore, just over the city line. It was declared to be green. Analysis showed it to contain 44 per cent. alcohol.

Here's a Bird That Succeeds

Study Him, and Maybe You'll Learn His Secret

Did you ever see a little gray sparrow fighting for his dinner in the street?

He has more enemies than an outlaw. He is constantly in danger from the hoofs of horses or the wheels of vehicles; boys delight to aim deadly missiles at him; his brother sparrows make him battle for every mouthful he picks up.

He pays a tremendous price of energy, alertness, and industry for one square meal, yet if you will notice he always gets it.

No pampered canary or bullfinch, who spends his elegant leisure waiting for a housemaid to bring him his dinner, is better fed or better groomed than this same little sparrow, who has to spend twelve strenuous hours every day making his living and who never had a vacation in his life.

The sparrow is not popular in this country. He is looked upon by other birds as an intruder, in much the same manner as the original inhabitants of this country looked upon our forefathers.

His chattering disturbs the weighty thoughts of the people who stroll about the parks. Householders reproach him because he builds his mud and straw nests in the cornices of their mansions.

Yet the little gray bird refuses to worry about his unpopularity.

He finds all he can do in attending strictly to his business, and though he is a stranger in a strange land, he is so successful that the growth of his tribe has far outstripped that of any other family of birds to be found in city or country.

Many of the sparrow's qualities could be copied with profit by some of the birds who revile and persecute him, and even we superior human beings might occasionally learn something from him if we could spare the time.

First of all, it will be observed by the person who watches the sparrow that he is SUCCESSFUL, and success means a great deal to us.

His success is attained chiefly by his industry, although his aggressiveness and quick wit are large factors in it.

With all the world against him, with man, birds and beasts ready and willing to destroy him, he nevertheless goes about his work with energy and intelligence, and he NEVER FAILS TO GET WHAT HE IS AFTER.

He is full of impudence and self-assurance, it is true, but he has one saving grace—which is CHEERFULNESS.

He never sits drooping on the limb of a tree like a saturnine bluejay or sentimental robin; he never gets frantic with impotent rage like the foolish little wren, and he never goes after picking needless fights like a noisy parrot.

Through all his persecutions he is contented and optimistic, and neither fights nor scolds unless it is necessary to drive some other bird away from a morsel of food.

If you will think of the men of your acquaintance who have made successes, you will probably find a good many sparrows among them.

The ability to succeed in the face of persecution and to keep your temper when you know everyone about you is seeking your downfall are qualities which it is well worth while to attain, even if you have to pattern your life after that of a despised and outcast little bird.

The Leopard Men

They'd Give You "the Creeps"

Dr. Haynes, back from Liberia, the African Republic, brings a story in regard to a secret society really worth studying. He reminds you that the Liberian Republic was established by a group of American slaves set free. They number now about 20,000.- The natives number 2,000,000. And those natives have what they call "the Leopard Society."

Each "Leopard" takes a solemn oath that he will kill a blood relation. When he goes out to do the killing he dresses himself in a leopard's skin. And after he has killed the relation, the relative's heart is taken out and kept. It has great powers in the way of "magic."

That would make you watch your "blood relatives" in Liberia.

We have recently heard denunciation of some secret societies in the United States, but they are pale and feeble compared with the Leopards of Liberia.

Incidentally you learn from that story of the Leopards that the thing necessary to really good government and to real civilization is NOT a few better men at the TOP, but a whole lot of better men and women at the BOTTOM.

You could make a silk purse out of a sow's ear much more easily than you could make real civilization out of a crowd of the lower type of savages, even if you brought down from Heaven the one hundred greatest statesmen that have ever lived, law-givers and executives, to build up the model government.

Oil and Coal Going

Don't Worry

Sir Richard Redymayne, British expert, says United States oil will be all gone in thirty years, and our coal in two thousand years, and British coal will not last as long as that.

It may be true, although nobody knows how much oil there is in the United States. And when all our coal is gone, there will be enough LIGNITE left in the Northwest to take care of the country for another two thousand years.

The Lord always provides, if you behave yourself. Not so long ago they were worrying about the scarcity of whales. They couldn't think what they would do, when they had no whale oil for their lamps. Then came kerosene oil, then electricity.

When coal and oil go, there will be the heat of the sun and the power of waterfalls. Maybe in some mysterious way we shall be able to harness up the power of that gigantic driving wheel on which we live, the earth. Turning on its axis at the rate of a thousand miles an hour it produces power. And then, don't forget the tides. The waters of the ocean running into one of the deep bays up North, produces enough power to run the machinery of several States.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

FOREIGN titles ARE fascinating, but, after all, the best and safest investment in the matrimonial market is "American Husband Preferred."

* * *

A husband's grouch is like a fog. You can't see through it and you can't "get around" it." You just have to wait for it to "LIFT"!

* * *

Helen Rowland

Women never has found out just what a man does at his lodge but she has a suspicion that the by-laws are mostly "rules for fooling your wife" and the secret grip a sort of "I won't-tell-if-you-won't" compact.

* * *

The woman who goes away for the Summer faces two vital problems; What to do with the cat and what to do with her husband—to keep them from "running wild."

* * *

The marriage-firm ought to start in with a big surplus of love. When a little love has to last a lifetime it spreads out awfully thin.

* * *

Girls with a flair for married men should remember that the sentimental escapades of most married men are merely "detours" which always bring them back safely to the straight boulevard of marriage.

* * *

The woman who drops a doubt or a suspicion into the mind of a trusting wife or a doting husband is like the child who tells its playmate that there isn't any Santa Claus. She is a wanton wrecker of sweet illusions.

* * *

Two good husbands have no realization of what a perfectly delightful afternoon their wives can spend telling each other how "abused" they are by "that man."

* * *

A husband used to demand a weekly night out—but it's getting so now that his wife is happy if he will cheerfully consent to a regular "night at home."

* * *

The average man never takes a wife's threats seriously—even when she gives the signal that she's "going to turn."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

"OLD things are best" a wise man said, and who shall say him nay? The glow of fragrant Springtime's dead transcends this cloudless May. The apple blossoms drifting down with every passing breeze made for the Spring a sweeter crown than graces years like these.

Old things are best; a withered rose within a yellowed book has sweets no budding flower knows in any tropical nook. Old songs sound fresher melody than those we hear today; like moonlight on the Summer sea their dancing measures stray; old songs that mirror days gone by and with their slow refrain bring back life's tender April sky, life's gift of April rain. So ever, as the silent ranks of marching years advance, we tender life our heartfelt thanks for many a background glance. Old things are best and Memory paints all in glowing tints, so that the distant days we see show splendid golden glints. And this is why it must be so, when many years have past and by the hearthfire's ruddy glow we sit and dream at last, then through the empty, idle hours we turn in glad review the pages of those days like flowers and great old friends we knew. Beguiling dreary days of age when other joys must wane, we look on life as on a stage and live old scenes again.

For Mother of Eight

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some dresses that will do some girls eight and ten years old. If you have somebody living near me, I will gladly deliver them. If not, please send me the address of some one who would like them and I will send them.

M. W.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. P. M., who has eight children and has had a great deal of sickness.

Would Send Magazines

Editor Helping Hand:

I would like address of any one who would like some magazines. I will gladly send what I have. How much happiness comes to so many through this great mission work you are doing. I think it is lovely to help people over hard places.

NRS. E. P.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. H. W., who would like reading matter but cannot afford to buy it.

Needs Bassinette

Editor Helping Hand:

I would like very much to have a bassinette as I expect an increase in the family and not able to get this or an ice chest which I need very badly. My husband has been sick and not able to work and with six children, none old enough to work, it is pretty hard just now for us. I know my husband would be grateful if some one has some men's clothes, as he looks very shabby. He is 5 feet 11, medium weight. I hope you won't overlook my appeal. Thanking you very much.

MRS. C.

Clothes for Mrs. B. E. S.

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of some one who could use the following articles: A dress, middy blouse, hat, hose, red sleeveless jacket for a girl about ten, a dress, pair of shoes and sailor hat for a lady and sweater and pair of pants for a boy about eight.

MRS. H. S. C.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. B. E. S., who has five children and is greatly in need of clothing for them.

Many Things for Girls

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a large box of dresses for girls, aged fourteen and seven. Also girl's coat, size 14, and white satin hat, also other articles, too many to mention. I would like the address of some needy family. I prefer all to go to one family.

E. L. W.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. E. M. G., who is an invalid widow left with three children, two of whom are girls, and the clothing you mention will fit them.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON GIVE AND TAKE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT is well to remember that life is pretty much a matter of Give and Take.

As the stenographer observes: "You're not the only pebble on the beach," or as the festive Al Jolson puts it: "You can't play every instrument in the orchestra."

If we go all down along the line of human relationships and apply this bit of sense, we will find

"It wad frae mony a blunder free us
An' foolish notion."

Come, Newlyweds, give and take, abate your egocentric mania, remember it takes two happy people to make a happy pair, adapt yourself, come down a bit, and you'll save yourselves many a pouting spell and sour moment, many an incipient tragedy and budding despair, many a heart twinge and drop of bitterness.

When you're shopping, give and take. Don't forget the clerk is a human being and may have her own particular worm of annoyance eating at her heart.

When you're handling workmen, give and take. They have their problems and prejudices, their wills and obsessions, even as you and your board of directors.

When you're dealing with the boss, give and take. He has his troubles. The wage-earner is not the only one who is worried about getting on; the man who pays the wages has to watch his step also, and when he falls he breaks not only his own leg but yours.

When you have an argument with the street-car conductor, or deal with the cook, or have to do with the grocer and the milkman, or are put out by an unsatisfactory waiter, or have a session with your lawyer, doctor, tailor or real estate agent, give and take.

Nobody gets happiness from having things all his own way. Happiness is not that kind of product.

Happiness is a mutual affair. It usually takes at least two. It is a co-operative enterprise.

And the beauty of it is that it is the paradox of the world. For divided by two it is larger than when it is yours alone.

If you want to get the most out of this imperfect world as you go along,

Give and Take!

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON STEALING MARS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

ONE of my ingenious Worcester correspondents has bethought him of a novel aspect of the Mars question. Since the famous red planet, adorned with its snowy poles, elusive "canals" and other mysterious markings, is to come so close to the earth in the latter part of August, he wonders whether it might not be possible for us to "lasso" it, and thus turn it into a big satellite of the earth.

There is a western breadth and daring about this suggestion that make a strong appeal to the imagination. If we are going to try to talk with the wonderful Martians by radio, to be sure why should we not lock arms with them gravitationally and so get time to pump them thoroughly on the subject of their superior civilization, while the two planets stroll side by side on their way around the sun?

Gravitation as it acts between the celestial bodies certainly behaves sufficiently like a lasso to strike a lively fancy with the resemblance.

The earth holds the moon with an invisible rope of "attractive force" and makes it travel in a wavering course, now careering on this side and now on that, while the much stronger and longer lasso of the sun keeps them both in leash. If we had any means of multiplying the gravitational force of our planets (as, for instance, by suddenly increasing its density and so its aggressive mass), we could unquestionably bring about some startling results in planetary space. If, for example, the earth's mass were quadrupled the moon's velocity would be doubled, and that would suffice to change the size of its orbit and its form with respect to the sun.

When Mars comes nearest—about 35,000,000 miles—the 22d of August the earth's pull upon it will be about one-20,000th of the sun's, while at the same time its pull upon the moon is about one-half of the sun's. In order to make the earth's pull upon Mars relatively as great as its pull upon the moon the distance between them would have to be reduced more than 141 times. Even if Mars were at double the moon's distance from the earth, it would fall into a waving path resembling the lunar orbit, and would become a constant companion of the earth; but it would hardly be suitable to speak of it as a satellite on account of its size—eight times that of the moon in volume.

At twice the distance of the moon, however, it would appear no larger than the latter—but how different in its looks! Most of its mysteries would be solved almost at once by our powerful telescopes, for the decrease of distance would be equivalent to an increase of more than 140 times in magnifying power.

We may be sure that if Mars really is inhabited we should be left in no doubt about the fact if a distance of less than half a million miles separated it from us. The famous "canals," now only to be glimpsed by a few of the greatest telescopes, would be conspicuous, and their character would quickly be revealed.

My correspondent is in error in supposing that an increase in the earth's pull upon Mars could draw the latter directly toward us. It would change the path and position of Mars to an extent depending upon the amount of the force and other circumstances, but it would be incapable of causing Mars to fall directly toward the earth.

That could only happen if Mars was motionless when the earth began to draw it, and if the earth was the only attracting body in the solar system. The amount of the force exerted by the attraction of gravitation, acting between the members of the solar system, appears tremendous when stated in terms of tons. Thus the attraction of the earth upon Mars when the latter is nearest will be equivalent to 7,500 billions of tons. But the average attraction of the sun upon Mars is about 140 quadrillions of tons.

Once-Overs

GET OUT OF THE RUT AND TRY SOME NEW PLAN

Why don't you get out of your rut?

Why do things the same old way day after day with no thought of improving your method?

Maybe you have been holding your job for a number of years.

Because you have been able to retain it year after year without changing your course of action is not a guarantee that you will be able to continue that way.

Men who are thoughtful and planners are engaged in the same line in which you are occupied.

They are trying to figure out some more improved way of doing just the things which are required of you, and if they succeed you go into the discard.

The smooth course seems the easiest for you, but it's mighty unwise.

In this age of great competition, newer and better ways of doing things are evolved and are constantly sought.

If you are not on the alert to discover and adopt them you will be on the down road sooner than you expect.

Get out of your rut.
